MOVE TO DRAFT
WEALTH IN WAR

Leaders During World Conflict Pick Flaws in Conscription Plans

CAN'T FORETELL NEEDS

Man Power and Morale Held Greatest Needs in Event of Strife

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co. Washington (CPA) — Although everybody considers another World war very remote, there is a good deal of discussion going on nowadays before the war policies commission as to what shall be done to conscript wealth in the next war.

Congress has been besieged with proposals from veterans' organizations and other associations insisting that the draft should be universal and that money and resources should come under government control as well as men.

Governor Meyer of the Federal Reserve board, has been testifying that finance is not the controlling factor in war and that military operations will be financed in one way or another to the extent that men and materials are available. He insists that the details of financing and financial control cannot be planned in advance.

Many witnesses have been heard by the commission, among them Bernard M. Baruch who was chairman of the War Industries board, and Newton D. Baker who was secretary of war in the Wilson administration. Various suggestions on "freezing" wealth have been made but official Washington is inclined to view the whole proceeding as theoretical, particularly since the conditions in the next war are not likely to be the same as those in 1918.

Man Power Biggest Factor
Mr. Meyer has placed on record, nevertheless, an interesting analysis of governing factors during the war, and the effect on world securities market. From a historical point of view much of the testimony now being offered will be valuable, but it all has tended to indicate that the man power and the spirit of the individual is the controlling characteristic.

Former President Coolidge has remarked that to conscript wealth and remove the incentive for the production of wealth, even during the war, was tantamount to inviting disaster. This is only another way of saying that any arbitrary ruling as to what shall be done with wealth

Illinois Acts To End Prison Outbreaks

Prisoners In Girls' School
Are Tortured

Birmingham, Ala. (AP) — Gov. B. B. Comer, acting on the recommendation of the Alabama Prison Commission, has ordered that the girls in the Alabama Prison for Girls be treated as prisoners of war. The girls, who are housed in the same building as the male prisoners, are to be treated as prisoners of war and are to be given the same rights and privileges as the male prisoners.

The committee recommended the immediate dismissal of Mrs. Ira F. Champion, the superintendent. A dentist formerly employed at the school, testified he treated a number of girls who had their heads shaved.

A former employee testified he saw a girl "whipped in the dining room until the blood came because she would not eat turnip greens."

Another former employee of the school said one girl had been beaten in her room for running away and kept there several days, and that she had seen underfed girls eating food from refuse cans.

One of the 23 girls said she ran away from the school and was handcuffed with her hands behind her back for three weeks.

CAPTURE SLAYERS OF TWO MISSIONARIES

Nanking (AP) — The slayers of Mrs. Vera White and Mrs. Victoria Miller, American missionaries, at Yunnan Sunday night, have been captured by provincial authorities, the foreign office was informed today.

Washington (AP) — The state department has instructed American Minister Johnson at Nanking to insist that the murderers of two American women, slain at Yunnan, China, last Saturday, be brought to justice immediately.

The victims, Mrs. Vera M. Miller of Chowchilla, Calif., wives of American missionaries of the Seventh Day Adventist church, were hacked to death.

CONTINUE TO SELECT JURY
FOR BROTHERS

Attorneys Expect to Swear in Eight Veniemen by Evening

Criminal Court Building, Chicago (AP) — Six men went through the jury box in quick succession as the examination was resumed today in the trial of Leo Brothers for the murder of Alfred Lingle. The state used three more of its peremptory challenges and the others were excused because of definite opinions, opposition to the death penalty and one man because he had a friend working in the defense counsel office.

After one hour there was only one additional man tentatively accepted by both sides, whereas there had been two when court opened for the day.

The trial was once abruptly halted by a bitter exchange of attorneys over the name of one of the witnesses—C. L. Applegate of Owensboro, Ky.

Defense Attorney Tyrrell Krum, reading a list of state witnesses to see if the jurors knew any of them, intoned calmly "C. L. Applegate, alias 'Red' Applegate."

Assistant State Attorney Wayland Brooks jumped to his feet and shouted, "I object to that alias. It is not on the list and is mere insinuation, attempting to discredit our witness."

"Well, then," Krum resumed, "do you know a man by the name of Applegate who hangs around race tracks all over the country?"

Brooks again made strenuous objection which was sustained by Judge Joseph S. Rath. Finally he asked if the witness knew "C. L. Applegate, of Owensboro, Ky."

And the witness said "no."

Three veniremen had been tentatively accepted for the second panel when court recessed for lunch. It appeared likely that eight jurors would be sworn in by evening.

As the number of jurors increased, so did the precautions to prevent any communication with them. Not only were the jurors locked up at every recess, but when they were taken out for lunch, the halls and elevators were cleared of all spectators and the veniremen were surrounded by bailiffs as they marched out.

STEADY IMPROVEMENT
FOR FOREIGN TRADE

New York (AP) — Signs are apparent of a steady though gradual improvement in world trade, James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corp. and chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, said today in issuing a call for the eighteenth national foreign trade convention. The meetings will be held in New York May 27, 28 and 29.

There are indications, Mr. Farrell said, "that the world wide depression in business, with which we have been dealing for several months, is subsiding and that the upturn is beginning."

"Our commerce confronts a situation which merits the consideration of all concerned in foreign trade. It is a time for thorough examination of economic conditions, and for practical demonstration of that spirit and habit of cooperation that so signally marks American foreign trade practice."

MAY ABANDON SECTION
MENACED BY SLIDES

Lopez, Bolivia (AP) — Complete abandonment of the Santa Barbara section may be necessary shortly as a consequence of a gradual sliding of the ground on which the district rests toward the Rio Choqueyapu. More than 40 houses have been destroyed by the creeping of their foundations.

Engineers and geologists are disgraced as to the causes of the landslide but both assert that the waters of the Rio Choqueyapu have filtered into subterranean cavities and undermined the area.

ALIMONY STATUTE IS VALID, JUDGE HOLDS

Milwaukee (AP) — Walter Bloedel's fight to save himself and other divorced husbands from paying alimony today met a setback with a ruling of Circuit Judge Daniel W. Sullivan that the Wisconsin law authorizing such alimony orders were constitutional.

Bloedel, wealthy Milwaukee jeweler, was ordered last November to pay his wife $35 weekly alimony when he was twice refused a divorce. Through his attorney, former Gov. Francis E. McGovern, he attacked the constitutionality of the statute which has been in effect since 1848.

4-Cent Gas Tax Bill On Way To Governor's Desk

Madison (AP) — Delayed by minor amendments attached by the Assembly, the Cashman highway bill, administration supported measure, is expected to reach the Governor for his signature within 10 days.

The bill, which provides for a 4-cent gasoline tax and is intended to give employment to 6,000 to 10,000 men through a grade crossing elimination program, was piloted through the Senate with little difficulty by its author, Sen. John E. Cashman, Democrat. In the Assembly, however, it met expected opposition and was passed yesterday by a vote of 63 to 32 after three amendments had been attached. It was fought through the lower house despite bitter objection of lake shore and southern county assemblymen, who protested the highway allotments as provided in the bill.

The senate must now concur in the amendments, the most important of which doubles the $4,000,000 provision for state aid to counties for construction of state trunk highways.

Milwaukee Opposed
Most effective in the fight against the passage of the bill in the Assembly was the block of Milwaukee county votes, 17 of 20 going against the measure. Of this number, nine were from the Socialist contingent, whose votes partly were in protest to the tabling of Assemblyman Ben Rubin's bill providing for minimum wages and maximum hours on highway jobs.

With the execution of Assemblyman G. E. Ingram, who is from Eau Claire county, all Assemblymen voting against the measure were from the southern and eastern counties.

The bill and amendments, in outline form, provide for:

1. The state's annual portion of the cost of bridges will be $900,000.

2. State aid for park and fire roads is increased from $150,000 to $200,000 annually.

3. Each city, village and town shall receive the following sums for the improvement of public roads and streets within their respective limits:

a. $50 a mile for all cities, villages and towns under 10,000 population.

400 FARMERS PROTEST
COMPULSORY COW TEST

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) — More than 400 eastern Iowa farmers marched to the state capital today to register a protest against the compulsory bovine tuberculosis testing law.

Arriving by special train, they paraded through Des Moines streets carrying placards voicing their objections to the statute. They will appear tonight at a public hearing of a legislative committee which is considering a bill to make the testing optional.

The farmers, many of whom are members of the Iowa Farmers' union, accused the legislature of filling the galleries of the house and senate and packing the rotunda. All wore blue badges bearing the inscription "All we ask is justice. Make TB testing optional."

HUNT SPURNED SUITOR
IN ATTACK ON WOMAN

Milwaukee (AP) — Police today searched for a suitor Miss Eleanor Terbanz, 30, had spurned in their quest for the assailant who waylaid and beat her so severely she may not live. The attack occurred last night as Miss Terbanz was walking to the hotel she lived. She was knocked unconscious and her back was broken. The man fled when passersby went to the woman's assistance.

Three Italian Fliers Killed
When Plane Falls Into Sea

Pisa, Italy (AP) — Col. Umberto Maddalena, famous Italian flier and leader of the dirigible Italia survivors, Lieutenant Fausto Ceccoli and Mechanic Sergeant Damonte were killed today when their seaplane fell into the sea.

Maddalena discovered General Umberto Nobile and a group of other survivors of the Italia. In 1928 near Spitzbergen and dropped medicine and supplies to them on the ice after the Italian airship had been wrecked on its North pole flight.

He and Lieutenant Ceccoli formerly held world air records for distance and duration flights and both had recently returned from the Latin-American flight of Air Minister Italo Balbo on which Maddalena was adjutant.

Their seaplane was flying at a height of 1,500 feet and about 900 feet offshore today when observers saw it dive suddenly and break toward the surface of the water.

$300,000 LOSS
AT STATEVILLE
IN NEW RIOTING

One Convict Killed in Clash —Extra Guards Are Put on Duty

Joliet, Ill. (AP) — Officials ruled Illinois' two state prisons with a hand of iron today to prevent a repetition of yesterday's riot in which five buildings at Stateville penitentiary were burned by some of 1,800 milling prisoners, three of whom were wounded, one fatally before the insurrection could be put down.

Warned that the smoldering resentment of the convicts might flare into a new uprising in the older of the two prisons, penitentiary authorities posted extra guards in the dining room, to halt the development of any further plot. They had the support of the state government which indicated the slogan for discipline would be "more guns and less talk."

In addition to 200 national guardsmen a like number of state highway police, under command of their chief, Walter Moody, were on duty to stop any disturbance like that of yesterday when property damage estimated at $300,000 was done and three guards were beaten.

The dead prisoner, Raymond Barney, died early today. He was wounded, along with Edward Devaney and Michael Farrare when they and hundreds of other convicts refused to obey immediate orders from the warden to return to their cells after the rioting had begun.

The spirit of unrest spread today to the women's division. On request of the matron in charge, Warden Hill today rushed a quantity of tear gas bombs to the women's penitentiary.

The outbreak there has as yet been reported. The matron asked that no men guards be sent as she feared their presence might excite the inmates.

Thirty ringleaders suspected of starting yesterday's revolt were placed in solitary confinement cells today. Prison authorities believe those who fomented the trouble were a group of young convicts transferred from the chain factory at Stateville several weeks ago when they proved to be disturbers at the former.

Make Careful Search
At both institutions a thorough "shakedown" was in process during the day. A hundred at a time, the prisoners were marched into the open, clothes searched for contraband; cells, bedding, pictures, ever nook in the cell blocks swept clean of hidden articles.

In the two major mutinies of the last five days, despite the spread by the rampaging convicts, none had been caught with firearms and the authorities were taking no chances that weapons might be concealed.

Col. Frank D. Whipp, state superintendent of prisons, praised the state highway policemen today for their instant mobilization at the prison, calling them "the finest protection the Illinois prisons have."

Overcrowding of men in both prisons, which are separated by five miles and resentment against parole board procedure, were blamed by Warden Henry C. Hill for yesterday's outbreak in Stateville. Other sparks which helped to touch off the revolt were the killing Feb. 22, of three prisoners as they tried to escape from the old building and the rioting there last Saturday in which two prisoners were killed and two wounded. Another was the death of a prisoner in solitary confinement.

WEST BEND POLICE NAB
BANK ROBBERY SUSPECT

West Bend (AP) — Albert Lachmeyer, alias A. W. Ramsey, 35, was under arrest here today, held for Dayton, Ohio, authorities who said he was wanted for participation in the robbery of an $8,500 payroll of the H. R. Blagg company last Aug. 9. Detective Sergeant Gross of Dayton will return him to Ohio.

BULLETINS

Chicago (AP) — Judge Michael Feinberg ruled today that George Adair Greene Longley of Janesville, Wis., is not a son of the late Albert W. Longley, hat manufacturer whose will, involving a $1,000,000 estate, the Janesville man is attempting to break.

Portage (AP) — Arrested on charges of wilfully and feloniously setting 11 roadside fires, Clyde Gallaher, prominent real estate promoter and once candidate for mayor of Madison, Wis., pleaded guilty in justice court here today and was fined $30 on agreeing to pay the fire damages.

Hoover Off
For Visit To Porto Rico

U. S. S. Arizona (AP) — President Hoover sailed toward Porto Rico today under skies which were fair from the time Hampton Roads was passed. The Arizona was making a speed of 15 knots and expected to reach the gulf stream this afternoon.

The president stood on the quarter deck to receive the official salute and to hear the band play and he remained there after the ceremonies were over, enjoying the benefits of the seaplane and bay.

A navy blimp, a squadron of planes, and myriad harbor craft joined in the demonstration as the Arizona departed.

Old Point Comfort, Va. (AP) — As batteries boomed from ship and shore, the battleship Arizona steamed out toward the Virginia capes and the sea this morning carrying President Hoover to America's island possessions in the Caribbean.

The recently remodeled dreadnaught, the navy's most modern fighting craft, will carry the president and his party through 3,000 miles of the Caribbean to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Arriving by train this morning from Washington, members of the presidential party breakfasted aboard their cars and were motored to the dock in army automobiles.

As they reached the embarking point, the warship was but dimly visible through the early morning mists, although less than a mile off shore. The president boarded an admiral's barge and as the craft shoved off, the president's flag was run up the main truck of the Arizona.

BANK ROBBER SENT TO WAUPUN PRISON

15 to 40 Years for Man
Convicted of Holdup at Webster

Grantsburg, Wis. (AP) — Convicted of the robbery of the Webster (Wis.) State bank, Leon McCauley today was under an indeterminate sentence of from 15 to 40 years in the state prison at Waupun.

His companion in the holdup last October, Carl Hawkins, is now serving a 20-year term, imposed on his plea of guilty shortly after he was captured last fall.

The jury hearing McCauley's case deliberated for less than an hour yesterday.

McCauley was identified as one of the robber pair by Byron Selves, president of the bank, and Misses Bertha Wagner and Lucy Glider, employees. Ivan Van Gilder, a customer, supported their testimony.

McCauley offered an alibi, saying he was in Duluth, Minn., the day of the robbery. Explaining his being in Sandstone, Minn., with Hawkins, where they were arrested, McCauley said he and Hawkins were engaged in a business of running liquor. The $300 found on his person was profit from the venture, he said.

HARRIET BUTCHER IS SET FREE BY JURORS

Eau Claire (AP) — Miss Harriet Butcher, Chippewa Falls, was free today after charges of assault with intent to kill in connection with the shooting of her alleged "radio lover," Sigurd Lind, former Eau Claire grocer now living in California.

A jury in circuit court acquitted her yesterday after deliberating four hours. The woman admitted firing at Lind—one of the shots wounded him in the hand—but denied she intended to take his life.

SENATE MAKES
2 CHANGES IN FUND MEASURE

Amendments Must Be Approved by Assembly Before Governor Acts

PARTIAL VETO LIKELY

Executive Has Power to Disapprove Portions and O. K. Rest of Bill

Madison (AP) — The Duncan bill for an executive council of 20, to act in an advisory capacity with the governor, was approved by the assembly today 53 to 35. It now goes to Governor LaFollette, who advocated the council in his message to the legislature.

The council will consist of 10 appointed by the governor, five senators and five assemblymen, who will meet on call of the governor.

Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, Marinette, led the opposition to the bill. He said it provided for a third legislative house, a "house of lords" which would assume authority that should be left with the legislature.

Madison (AP) — The administration's budget bill, carrying appropriations of approximately $43,000,000 passed the senate today after two amendments were adopted and as many rejected. The vote was 23 to 10.

Having already passed the assembly, the appropriation bill will be ready for the governor's signature as soon as the lower house concurs in today's amendments.

The bill as it now stands is approximately $990,000 over the recommendations of the joint committee on finance and about $400,000 greater than the Kohler administration's measure.

Under the power given the governor by last session's referendum, however, the chief executive may veto any portion on the bill and send that portion back to the legislature.

Sen. Walter Polakowski, Milwaukee, brought about the big change in the bill in the senate when his amendment raising the appropriations $550,000 was passed. The amendment will appropriate $250,000 for the construction of buildings at penit and charitable institutions and $300,000 for additional help to place labor on an eight-hour day basis.

Approve Two Changes
Sen. Bernard Gettelman, Milwaukee, offered amendments which were adopted. They will make a yearly appropriation of $1,000 to the Spanish War Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The vote on the measure showed a breaking of party lines. Several Progressives voted against the bill as amended. The roll call follows:

For—Anderson, Barker, Blanchard, Boldt, Clifford, Daggett, Duncan, Fellner, Four, Gettelman, Goodland, Loomis, Melham, Morris, Mueller, Nelson, Olson, Polakowski, Roberts, Rush, Smith, Whitte and Zantow—23.

Against—Cashman, Carroll, Edwards, Hunt, Hall, Keppel, Miller, Roethe, Severson and Shearer—10.

Cashman Against Change
Sen. John E. Cashman, Denmark, an administration leader, disapproved of the amendments and said the bill had been overthrown by $400,000 before it got to the senate.

"In the last session the floor leaders were concerned with keeping taxes down," he said, "but now they are trying to put the administration in a hole."

Sen. Polakowski offered an amendment to cut the appropriation to the national guard by $100,000 but it was rejected 26 to 6. Another amendment to increase the appropriation to the law library by $600 met a similar fate.

An attempt to force the automobile laws 40 feet from a railroad crossing was killed in the senate by indefinite postponement. Sen. J. H. Carroll, Glidden, moved for postponement, saying "I don't think Wisconsin wants such a law."

Sen. William Edwards, Sussex, said: "If this bill passes, Waukesha county will need ambulances, doctors and hospitals, galore."

The bill was postponed by a vote of 24 to 3. Senators Anderson, Cashman, Goodland, Hunt, Roethe, Severson, Shearer and Smith dissenting.

Lobby Resolution Beaten
The Severson lobby resolution also went down to defeat. It would have created a special committee to investigate lobbyists and their activities. Herman Severson, Iowa, the author, said he was unable to see how his colleagues could explain a vote against the resolution in view of the Smith bribery investigation.

Sen. Gettelman assailed the resolution and threatened to spy on the committee if one was appointed.

"I have never been a snooper but the only way you can be a snooper is to snoop on the snooper," he said. "Legislators are not racketeers," observed Sen. James Barker, Antigo. "We don't need to be watched."

The resolution was then rejected by a 19 to 14 vote.

Food And Medical Aid Reach Survivors Of Sealing Ship

RESCUE PARTY FIGHTS ITS WAY OVER ROUGH ICE

Viking Crew Members to Be Put Aboard Vessel Bound for St. Johns

St. Johns, N. F.—(P)—Food, medical supplies and a doctor reached the survivors of the Viking on Horse Island today.

Doctor Forsy and members of the crew of the sealer Imogene close-packed and hummocked ice. They began immediately to take survivors to the Imogene to be fed and sent on to the sealer Sagana nearby. The Sagana was to bring them to St. Johns for hospital care. The men of the Viking sought refuge on the island after their ship was blown up Sunday night.

Consul General Edward A. Dow sent a plea to Washington for an American ice-cutter and was prepared to radio full instructions on the ice field surrounding the island might be necessary.

George Whitley, a veteran sealing captain, refuted a report that rescue airplane would be unable to land at the island. He said there was a clear space on the southern side of the island which would assure a safe landing.

Six men were already aboard the Sagana, having been picked up after many hours of exposure on ice and wreckage.

Navigator W. Kennedy, one of the six, has contracted pneumonia. Wireless Operator C. King has frozen feet now attacked by gangrene, and Harry Sargent, American explorer, is suffering with an eye affliction.

Crews of the Beothic and Sagana with additional doctors and supplies reached the island close behind the crew of the Imogene.

BALCHEN TO HEAD FLIGHT
Boston—(P)—A dozen mechanics worked in feverish haste today preparing an amphibian plane to penetrate the frozen wastes of northern Newfoundland to bring succor to the struggling survivors of the wrecked sealing ship Viking.

Meanwhile, Bert Balchen, hero of the Byrd transatlantic and Antarctic flights, had retired to a local hotel after a night at the airport, to rest in preparation for the long flight which was expected to begin not later than midnight. Balchen was to be at the controls.

The expedition was being prepared by Marion Cooper, noted motion picture photographer, at the request of Dr. Lewis Frissell of New York, father of Varley Frissell, one of the Americans who has been missing from the Viking since that vessel was shattered by an explosion off Horse Island in White Bay.

Cooper, after receiving Dr. Frissell's request, rushed himself during the night and the dark hours of this morning recruiting mechanics and a prospective crew for the plane.

Balchen, located in Connecticut, rushed to Boston by train, to join mechanics who had flown from New York to prepare a giant Sikorsky for the trip.

After viewing the plane, Balchen decided that she was unfit for the ordeal without considerable alteration, the most vital of which was to increase her cruising radius by adding additional gas tanks. The plane would need a gas capacity of 400 gallons, he said, to guarantee a cruising range of at least seven hours.

Barney Barbin, New York pilot, who flew here with mechanics during the night, immediately took off again for Farmingdale, Long Island, to obtain additional gas tanks. During his absence the mechanics prepared the plane for their installation.

Balchen said that it would be unnecessary for him to land at Horse Island if conditions were not favorable. He said that food and medical supplies could be dropped by parachute.

NEW WITNESS FOR BROTHERS IN LINGLE CASE

Chicago Real Estate Man Claims He Saw Back of Slayer's Head

Chicago—(P)—Attorneys for Leo V. Brothers, St. Louis, on trial for slaying Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, today claimed they had a new witness to refute the claim of the state that Brothers was the man who shot Lingle in the back of the head in a pedestrian tunnel last June 9.

They named H. C. Atkinson, a Chicago real estate man, as the new witness and said he had come forward that he had seen the back of the slayer's head and that he was convinced that Brothers was not the man. Atkinson, described the slayer as having straight black hair, which contradicted previous descriptions which have pictured the slayer as a tall blond man, having blue eyes. Meanwhile efforts to get a jury continued with indications that it would not be completed before the end of the week. In questioning the ventfren yesterday the defense attorneys mentioned the gain which they said might come to certain witnesses. Among other things Defense Attorney Tyrell Krum mentioned was the $55,000 reward offered by Chicago newspapers after the slaying and declared this should be considered in passing on the credibility of a witness.

Lawrence President Doesn't Think There Are Too Many in Colleges

Disagreement with the recent statement of Sir Michael Stadler, master of University College, Oxford, that there are many men in American colleges and universities who should not be there, was expressed by Dr. Henry Merritt Wriston, president of Lawrence college, in an interview this week.

Sir Michael holds that American colleges, in an attempt to put education on a democratic plane, have admitted so many persons incompetent to carry work of collegiate grade that the good ones have been swamped by the bad, and do not have the opportunity to develop their individual powers.

"It seems to me impossible to make any such general and sweeping statement," President Wriston said. "The obligations of different institutions are quite different. The obligation of public education is to carry each member of society as far toward intellectual and economic competence as is possible. It is for that reason that we have compulsory education in the elementary schools. It is of so much importance to the community that its citizens be trained that we compel them to go to school whether they wish to or not. Of course, a great many of those who have elementary educations ought not to go to colleges and universities. They should go to trade schools and to other schools of that character where they can learn to support themselves.

Purposes Vary

"That does not mean that only those of the highest intellectual capacity ought to be given advanced training. What it does mean, it seems to me, is that the different types of organization should recognize their several responsibilities. The state university and other state supported institutions which have the unlimited resources of the taxing power behind them may best serve the state under some circumstances by taking care of many applicants which privately endowed colleges should not undertake to deal with.

"If the state can afford the great costs involved, it may well spend its money to bring its citizens to higher and higher levels. Privately endowed institutions, on the other hand, have as their primary obligations the most effective employment of their endowment and other funds. If they take in too many students, more than they can handle with the greatest degree of efficiency, they do neither the community nor the students any service. They ought to take in only as many as they can fairly and intelligently manage.

"In the second place these institutions should have students of something like equal competence. Institutions of the highest grade should decline to admit students of low potential capacity, sending such students to other institutions where the same standards are not maintained. This means that each college would have its own kind of students and that they could move at something like a uniform pace.

"This ideal situation has never been achieved, but more progress has been made in this direction than

Organize Landscaping Class At Trade School

Appleton is one of the first of Wisconsin cities to share in the recently established landscape design services offered through the extension division and department of horticulture of the University of Wisconsin, according to Herb Hellig, director of Appleton vocational school. An evening class in landscape design, open to any person having a purposeful interest in this subject, is now being arranged at the vocational school.

The class will meet Monday evenings for six weeks, beginning March 30, under the instruction of Professor Franz A. Aust, associate professor of horticulture at the state university.

Mr. Hellig makes the following reference to the coming landscaping

ing course: "The course is well adapted to helping the home owner to deal intelligently, artistically, and economically with his landscaping problems. Since the basic principles of the various arts are the same, this course will naturally form an excellent background for study of any of the other arts. Stress is laid on these principles so that the student may appreciate better what is good in design and that he may also create good design."

The new course is designed to give a survey of the history and development of art, and outlines the correlation of this to the other arts. Consideration also is given to the relation of landscape design to the urban and rural life.

As special features of these classes, many stereopticon pictures are to be shown. Sketch plans, designs, and planting plans of home grounds are other means used to give each lesson a definite application to the individual problem, according to Mr. Hellig.

Professor Aust has had many years of experience in classroom instruction in landscape design at the university, and in addition has had supervision of all planting on the Madison campus. He also is engaged actively in extension work throughout the state, with his main object the beautifying of farm and town grounds.

most people suppose. A series of objective tests which give some measure of academic capacity have shown that there is a distinct tendency for students, in going to college, to seek one which caters to their particular level. While for reasons of finance, location and other convenience of one sort or another there are many exceptions to this tendency the movement is quite distinct and of the greatest importance.

"I do not agree with Sir Michael that there are too many people in institutions of higher learning. It seems to me that the essential point is that they are not sufficiently well sorted out as yet among those institutions, and we will receive criticisms of this character until a process of dividing students according to their capacities is carried much further than is now possible."

Council Turns Down Resolution To Pave South Oneida-st

ASKS UTILITY FOR REMOVAL OF CAR TRACKS

Residents Already Have Paid for One Improvement, Aldermen Told

The council plowed through its heavy docket Wednesday night with little more than a few half-belligerent glances and an occasional sarcastic jab to mar the orderly route of business. S. Oneida-st will not be paved; South River-st, Verbricks-st, Ida-st, and Riverside will be paved. The Vanderheyden report on high prices trailed off, like the tail end of a cyclone, into a peaceful discussion of more business-like methods of buying. Wisconsin-ave was put in the local business district, the junk ordinance took one more turn in its endless cycle, and the official okay of the council legalized Tuesday's election.

Refusing to adopt Alderman C. J. Vassenberg's resolution asking for a permanent paving on S. Oneida-st, with the city and the Wisconsin Michigan Power company sharing the cost, the council voted to instruct the Power company to remove the rails on S. Oneida and repair the street with brick in a satisfactory manner. The Fourth ward alderman maintained that property owners on S. Oneida-st had already paid for a permanent pavement, and that if it were not for tracks the street would be in good condition. He stated that other streets in the city had been covered with a black top and repaired without special assessment to the property owners, and he saw no reason why S. Oneida-st should not be treated in a like manner.

He declared that the Power company had postponed its track removal program when it got to Oneida-st because it knew that removing 110-pound rails from a bed of concrete would be more difficult than any of the other rail removal jobs.

Sticks To Point
Answering Alderman George Packard's charge that Fourth warders were trying to get a street paved at the expense of the city, Mr. Vassenberg said that the original resolution to pave S. Oneida-st came from the board of public works, with the stipulation that the property owners pay $1 a foot.

Alderman R. F. McGillan held with his colleague, saying that the man with the dinner pail who has worked only off and on all winter is in no position to pay again for a permanent pavement. He pointed out that they are willing to meet their share of the general fund expenditures, but that a special assessment would be a hardship. With S. Oneida-st a highway from Calumet-st to Seymour-st, he felt there should be state or county aid for the improvement of this street, just as there was on several other connecting streets in the city. Alderman Mike Steinhauer agreed with the Fourth ward aldermen, but suggested that the Power company be forced to do a better repair job than was done on other streets last summer.

Alderman C. D. Thompson and George Packard plumed Mr. Vassenberg down to more definite statements, objecting to his assertions that "other streets had been paved without special assessment to the property owner" and that "with the exception of the tracks Oneida-st is in good condition."

"Not City's Problem"
Alderman Thompson showed that only one section of street in the flats had been resurfaced at the city's expense, and Alderman Packard objected strenuously to covering the street if it is in good condition. He demanded that the same treatment be given Oneida-st as was given the rest of the streets whose rails were removed, adding that if the rails were imbedded in concrete it was "just too bad," but that that was not the city's problem.

The council was reminded by Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden that the Power company had discontinued its rail removal program when S. Oneida-st residents objected to having the rails removed.

The engineer's plan and specifications for the paving of South River-st, River-dr, Verbricks-st and Ida-st were adopted, and the clerk was authorized to advertise for bids.

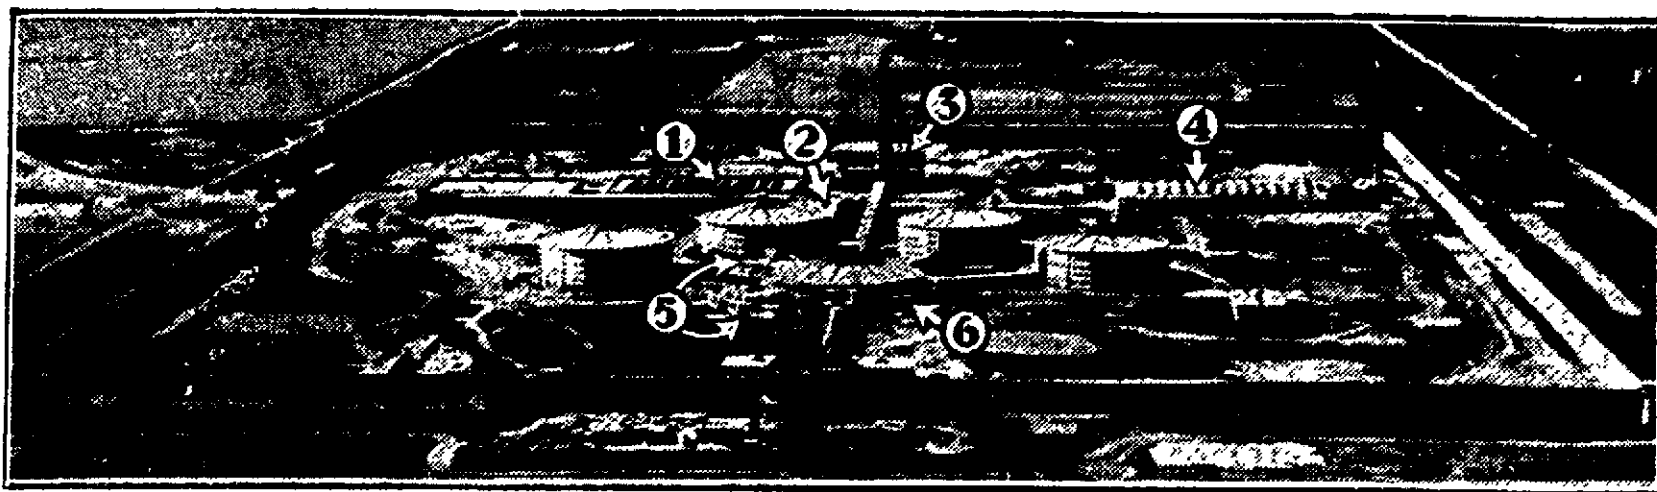

Passing over the objections of Alderman Thompson and George Packard, 120 feet on the north and south sides of Wisconsin-ave from Richmond-st to Madison-st were placed in the local business district. Residents on Wisconsin-ave, at three public hearings, were unanimous in their desire to transfer the section into the business district.

Thompson Scores More
The absurdity of locating a business district a mile long, or 25 per cent longer than College-ave, on the outskirts of the city, was pointed out by Mr. Thompson. He explained the real meaning of a "local business district," stating that it was ridiculous to apply that term to a district of this size. He felt it would be far more sensible to put a few blocks of the avenue into the commercial and light manufacturing district, giving that section of town a business district without speckling the entire street with business places. He said the "mile of opportunity for business places" and that eventually every residence would be flanked by a business place. The property owners favor it, he said, because they hope it will raise the value of their property.

Alderman Richard objected to the 120-foot line, pointing out the difficulties involved if a man owns a lot 100 feet deep, with 120 feet in the local business district, and 10 feet in the residential.

The advantage of a local business district, with a setback line that would guard the residential appearance of the street, was explained by Alderman Philip Vogt, who warned that if the section were not transferred, eventually the council would be forced to turn the street into a local business district place by

Illinois Convicts Riot and Set Fire to Prison

Here are the first pictures of the model prison at Stateville, Ill., where 1,800 convicts rioted and burned seven buildings. In the upper picture No. 1 is the machine and shoe shop almost totally destroyed; (2) the clothes and laundry shop, almost completely destroyed; (3) the power house, undamaged; (4) the machine shop in which many pieces of machinery were wrecked; (5) bakery and kitchen damaged by convicts; (6) mess hall, badly wrecked by flames.

MANY PHEASANTS SURVIVE WINTER

Lack of Deep Snows Helps Birds to Find Plenty of Food

Pheasants liberated in Outagamie-co last fall probably fared better than usual this winter, it is believed. Lack of heavy snows made it easier for the birds to find food, especially during the latter part of the season. It permitted the birds to wander over larger areas seeking food, and they have taken to farmers' yards where they are permitted to pick up scraps.

The birds usually feed well on the seeds and shrubs in fall and early winter. When early snows comes they still are able to eat weeds, which rise above the snow. Heavy snows cover the weeds and the birds have to go elsewhere for food, the supply of fat taken on during the fall serving them over lean periods. During the last year the shrubs did not grow as well. Many dried up while others were destroyed by fires that burned through the underbrush in certain sections of the county. However, with coming of winter and lack of snow the pheasants have been able to get about and search for food, which at no time was covered by deep snow. Many farmers usually put out food for the pheasants. Conservation groups established feeding stations as usual this season and many birds have learned where they are.

BADGER COMPANY LOW ON ELECTION BALLOTS

The bid of the Badger Printing company, for $95, was low on the printing of ballots for the spring election on April 7, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk, who opened the bids yesterday afternoon. There was only one other bidder. The printer will prepare 30,000 official and 4,000 sample judicial ballots and 30,000 official and 4,000 sample referendum ballots.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barkholtz, route 5, Appleton, at St. Elizabeth hospital. A son was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Muggenthaler, Kimberly, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

A daughter was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Behnke, Hilbert, at St. Elizabeth hospital.

piece. Arguing against a district a few blocks long, he asked who would take the most desirable place, with both the east and west ends of the street clamoring for the change. He explained that the 120-foot depth line will provide for an alley and will protect the sidewalk owner. The ordinance was passed by a 10 to 2 vote, Richard and Thompson voting against it.

In direct contrast to his spirited attack at the last council meeting, Alderman Vanderheyden calmly presented a list of voucher numbers in which he maintained evidence of high prices could be found, "prices higher than the city should have paid if purchases had been made under more competitive surroundings."

Vanderheyden Reports
Declaring that his original statement had been misinterpreted, he explained that he had meant to convey the impression that if high prices were charged it was only through error on the part of the merchant. He added that the purchaser was often an official too overburdened with work to have time to investigate carefully.

Reminding the council that a price committee had been appointed to secure the most advantageous prices, he suggested that the council name a committee to investigate the matter, "to avoid further unpleasantness."

Alderman Vogt protested against the vouchers included by Mr. Vanderheyden in his report, maintaining that the Fifth ward alderman had been asked to prove the statement made concerning a certain group of bills. He said that if Mr. Vanderheyden had originally proposed a new system of purchasing there would have been no argument, that it was his sweeping accusations that had brought on the fracas. To authorize a price committee to "shop around" on every purchase made by the city, he said, would cost more than could be saved. The matter was referred to the finance committee for further investigation.

KRANZUSCH WILL ENTER CAMPAIGN FOR SUPERVISOR

J. Austin Hawes, whose name was written in on the primary ballot for supervisor in the Second ward, declined the nomination Thursday morning. Gus Kranzusch, who was a last-minute nominee for supervisor from the Sixth ward, stated this morning that he would enter the race.

The votes cast in the primary for Axel Fahlstrom, whose name was posted on about 150 ballots, have been thrown out, as the city attorney, A. C. Bossier, has ruled that nomination for school commissioner cannot be effected in this manner. According to Mr. Bossier there is nothing in the statutes that would permit the nomination of a school commissioner on the primary ballot, as school board members are not voted upon at the primary.

All expense accounts for candidates in the primary must be filed with Carl Becker, city clerk, by Saturday noon.

SETTLEMENT MADE IN DAMAGE SUIT

Railroad Company Wins in Action Brought Against Estate and Driver of Car

A settlement out of court was reached yesterday afternoon in a suit started by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad company against George Blake, Appleton, and the estate of Phillip Bouressa. The case was the first of its kind ever started in Wisconsin. The railroad company, which sought $6,500 damages, will recover the full amount of the property damage covered by the insurance policy in effect on Bouressa's car at the time the accident occurred.

Blake was driving the car and Bouressa was a passenger when the machine crashed into the side of a freight train at the Eighth-st crossing here on Nov. 30, 1929. Bouressa was fatally injured and Blake was badly hurt. Several box cars were derailed and damaged and the railroad company contended Blake and Bouressa were at fault.

A counterclaim for $10,000 damages, filed against the railroad company by the defendants, was dismissed.

CLAIMS TOTAL $20,000 IN DAMAGE SUIT

Green Bay and Shiocton Persons Involved in Case Resulting from Crash

A damage suit involving claims totaling more than $20,000 opened in circuit court before Judge Edgar V. Werner yesterday afternoon. Daniel Nelson, Green Bay, his wife, Anne Nelson, and Paul Garot, Green Bay, are the plaintiffs, while Edward Knoke, Shiocton farmer, is the defendant. Anthony Dart and Fred Steffens, Green Bay, were made co-defendants on petition of Knoke. Mr. Nelson asks $1,000 damages, his wife seeks $3,000, and Garot asks $10,000. Knoke has a counterclaim for $500, while Dart and Steffens have filed claims against Knoke for $3,000 each.

The suit is the result of an accident on July 12, 1930, at the intersection of Highway 54 and County Trunk M, about four miles south of New London, Mrs. Garot and Mrs. Nelson were riding with Dart and Steffens in Dart's car, which was involved in a collision with a truck driven by Roy Bruette. The truck was owned by Knoke, and Bruette was his employee. Mrs. Garot was instantly killed, and Mrs. Nelson and the two men were hurt. Knoke and Bruette were fined 10 and costs each after the accident on charges of owning and operating a truck without a license.

The party of four was returning to Green Bay after visiting Arnold Derkes, 26, Little Chute, who was confined to a hospital at New London, after being shot by a federal prohibition officer in a raid on the old Ziebel farm, three miles southwest of New London, in the town of Mukwa.

Four Men Arrested
The raid took place the night before the accident. Four men, including Derkes, were arrested, and a large alcohol still was destroyed.

Shortly before the fatal accident on Highway 54, the Dart car was in another accident in New London, but Dart and the party continued on their way after paying for damages to the other car.

An official investigation of the fatal accident at the time involved both drivers from blame in the crash. It was pointed out that Highway 54, at the intersection where the accident happened, is not an arterial highway and that Bruette's

CHARGE LOCAL YOUTH WITH STATUTORY RAPE

An 18-year-old Appleton boy was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Fred V. Heinemann this morning on a statutory charge and preliminary hearing was set for March 26. He was unable to furnish bonds of $1,000 and is being held in the county jail. He was arrested by Sergeant John Duval and Officer Albert Delgen this morning on complaint of the family of a 17-year-old Appleton girl.

vision was cut off by a large clump of brush at the roadside.

Nelson asks $1,000 for the time his wife was in the hospital; Mrs. Nelson asks $2,000 for injuries she suffered; Garot asks $10,000 for the loss of his wife; Steffens and Dart ask $3,000 each for personal injuries and for damage to Dart's car; Knoke asks $500 for damages to his truck. In seeking to have Dart and Steffens made co-defendants in the three original suits, Knoke claimed that if he was liable, then he had cause of action against the two men. The case is not expected to get to the jury before late Friday. Members of the jury are Joseph H. Evers, Little Chute; Erna Fink, Combined Locks; William Hobbs, route 4, New London; Edwin S. Maas, Black Creek; Arthur H. Otto, Seymour; Walter F. Radichel, route 4, New London; Nicholas Vande Voort, route 1, Oneida; Martin Van Eyck, Little Chute; Lorraine A. Wieland, route 1, Hortonville; Robert V. Winter, Greenville; Louis E. Zoelk, Appleton.

Officers of the union local said they knew of no trouble in which their leader might be involved.

Rooney was a brother-in-law of Jerry Horan, president of the Flat Janitors' union, and with him formed a Cook-co. Wage earners' league. He had a summer home near Antioch, Ill., close to that of Anton J. Cermak, Democratic leader and candidate for mayor, and through neighborhood proximity became a friend. In the current campaign he was aiding Cermak while Horan supported Mayor William Hale Thompson.

METAL UNION'S OFFICER SHOT DEAD BY GUNMAN

Assailant Fires Three Shots and Escapes in Automobile

Chicago—(AP)—William J. Rooney, for ten years business agent of the sheet metal workers union, was shot to death a few doors from his home today.

Rooney had just emerged from his apartment and walked a few steps down the street when a man stepped from a parked automobile and ran toward him. He fired three shots, all three striking Rooney, who fell dead.

The slayer ran back to the car in which two companions waited, and drove away.

Rooney was a brother-in-law of Jerry Horan, president of the Flat Janitors' union, and with him formed a Cook-co. Wage earners' league. Troubled With Eczema So Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Healed.

"I was troubled with eczema so that I could not sleep. It broke out in pimples and itched so badly that I could not keep my hands from it. When I scratched it caused eruptions and the trouble spread all over the side of my face. It was so bad that I had to stay home from work, and I was ashamed to see anybody. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Grace Clay, 104 Church St., Ferguson, Mo.

MAY DETERMINE LIABILITY OF STOCK HOLDERS

Would Assess Damages Against Persons Holding Stock in Defunct Bank.

BY C. B. UPHAM

Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press

Washington—(CPA)—The liability of shareholders in group bank organizations in the case of failure of a bank which is a member of the group may be finally determined, as a result of action taken by the comptroller of currency, John W. Pole, it was learned today.

The federal receiver of the National Bank of Kentucky, in Louisville, has announced that he has been directed by the comptroller to assess the stockholders of that bank 100 per cent on the double liability that attaches to holders of stock in National banks. A large percentage of the bank's stock was owned by the Banco-Kentucky company. If the Banco-Kentucky company cannot meet the assessment of more than $3,000,000, assessments will be levied against the shareholders of Banco-Kentucky and suit brought in an attempt to pass along the liability to them. This, it was stated, will be the first case of its kind on record.

The question of the liability of shareholders of group banks has given the state legislatures and congress considerable concern, and has been used as an argument against the new form of banking organization.

The owners of stock in national banks, and in state banks in most of the states, are liable to a 100 per cent assessment against their shares, in case of failure of the bank or, in some cases, to prevent it from failing. Where the stock of a bank is held entirely or in part by a holding company, the holding company as a bank stockholder is liable to the double assessment. In cases where the holding company possesses assets other than bank stock, there is some assurance that such an assessment against it could be met.

Where, however, the entire assets of a holding company are composed of bank stock, a situation may arise where a double liability assessment could not be paid. In that case, it becomes of importance to determine whether the double liability can be passed along to the stockholders of the holding company. Test suits to settle that question will probably result from the action of the comptrol-

This Testing System Keeps an Eye on Your Battery

Few motorists realize the necessity of testing the charge of a storage battery at regular intervals. "This point is one of the important features of our Willard service to motorists—testing each cell of the storage battery," says Mr. George Schwab, manager of the Gibson Tire & Battery Co., Willard service station.

"Each cell should be tested periodically at a battery service station. As the specific gravity of a battery varies with the period of discharge, testing the gravity with a hydrometer keeps a check on the state of charge of the driver's battery. Each cell should be tested individually and a record made of the readings taken at the time of test. "There is no season of the year when the testing of the battery should be neglected. In the winter time the battery should be tested to see that the state of charge is high enough to keep it from freezing; and in the summer time the battery should be tested so that it will not be ruined by excessive charging.

"A definite record is taken, when we test a battery of the specific gravity of each cell, written down in the presence of the car owner on a test card supplied him. Any variation in subsequent readings would be an indication of trouble, either in the battery or in the electrical system. The prompt removal of the trouble will save the motorist time, annoyance and money. Testing is done for the customer's protection."

INDUSTRIALIZED FARMING

Another problem of economic and industrial organization in this country is presenting itself in the growth of great farm corporations in some of our large agricultural states. For many years the centralization of producing agencies into large units has covered a wide field of our industrial activities. The fear that this continued and uncontrolled trend would work havoc with small producers and tend to create monopolies has ever been in the minds of many people, as is evidenced by the enactment of anti-trust laws designed to maintain competition and prevent restraint of trade.

Until a few years ago the farm producer never had occasion to give serious thought to industrialized farming in large corporate units and the competition which might result therefrom. Corporation farming originated in Iowa eight or nine years ago as a result of post-war deflation. Banks and insurance companies holding farm mortgages based on high land values were forced to take the land on foreclosures. They hit upon the scheme of organizing these farms into large operating corporations which proved to be a profitable solution. They found that good management and large scale production using efficient equipment, enabled them to reduce costs to a point where profits resulted under conditions which were causing losses among the small independent farmers. The result has been the spread of large farm corporations, and the present business depression is accelerating this trend.

Is this industrialized farming a menace to the nation? It is a question which is being hotly debated in the agricultural states. The Kansas legislature has enacted a law prohibiting the further organization of farm corporations within the state. The Nebraska legislature also has a measure prohibiting corporations from holding land for farm purposes.

The evidence indicates a strong sentiment among farmers against these corporations. They of course visualize the impossibility of competing successfully against the large producer. On the other hand Prof. O. R. Johnson of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Missouri takes the opposite view.

This trend involves the social status of the American farmer. Is he to continue as the small producer, having his own business, or is he to become an employe and develop into one of a class of tenants, his every activity subject to the direction of a corporate will?

Though the preachings of efficiency and profit may produce conclusions that the trend of large farm corporations is logical it is not necessary. It will be a sad day for the nation if the American farmer loses that glorious independence which has been his heritage.

OLD AGE INCOME

General Motors Corporation has made a further extension of the life insurance procured for its employes so as now to include about 150,000 persons carrying a total of $500,000,000 insurance.

In making this announcement Mr. Sloan, its president, stated a fact that all lose sight of too quickly. Said he: "Investigation of our claim experience indicates that in a large percentage of the cases this insurance was the only asset left by the deceased. Thus many unfortunate and needy families of our employes have already received about $7,000,000 that would not have been available to them had it not been for this plan."

Regardless of the condition of wages some men will not save. Regardless of the lessons of life and experience some men will not put by for a rainy day. And many thousands of others who do save eventually lose these savings through unwise or fraudulent investments, so that old age finds them without resources or their deaths plunge their families into poverty.

That is why the statement that what "America needs is a fairer distribution of wealth" is quite meaningless without carefully thought out and well considered plans for the conservation of this wealth, when once acquired, and for the protection of men and their families at those times, either death or old age, when they are otherwise helpless.

The group insurance plan pursued by General Motors, happily, is not a stranger in the country but now pretty well covers the land. It takes care of and protects from the constant danger of death to the earner.

But already other great corporations are looking at Old Age Income and some of them, such as General Electric and Standard Oil, have started the plan.

THE WENDELS OF NEW YORK

One hundred twenty-one years ago John Gottlieb Wendel, an emigrant, bought some property in New York City and adopted a policy represented by this slogan: "Buy but never sell real estate; never mortgage it; tenants must make their own repairs."

That might be a reckless policy anywhere than in some great metropolitan area, but there it succeeded.

This original Wendel impressed his principle strongly upon his son and heir and the latter extended it—that is, bought further real estate, erected buildings, rented them and out of the income bought still more, all in New York City.

He added a little publicity to his father's slogan, printing on his office window the startling message: "We have nothing to sell."

When he died he left his swiftly growing fortune to his son and six daughters, all greatly impressed by the fact that an unbending rule of conduct had gathered into their hands a great fortune, for the estate now was worth many millions.

This third Wendel added another principle. It was this: "No Wendel will ever marry and thus we will keep all the property together." That was a hard rule to inflict upon six attractive girls who owned plenty of property, but five of them obeyed it implicitly and the one who married was left childless so the object of this third John Gottlieb Wendel was carried out.

As these children died their shares were left to the survivors. But they lived long lives and continued to buy further New York real estate, still owning the plots originally purchased by their great-grandfather.

These Wendel ideas were successful in a material way because the family became immensely wealthy, but they had their drawbacks too. Living in the house constructed by their great-grandfather in 1856, they refused telephones, electric lights, modern plumbing and automobiles. Radios made them shudder. They all became eccentrics.

And now at seventy-eight the last of the Wendels is dead. Estimates place the value of the property left all the way from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000, which is greater than any other family holdings.

Here is a problem for him who wants to study the effect upon human nature when a man sets his mind upon a certain goal and will brook no interference with his course of conduct, listen to neither reason nor argument, but presses on in grim determination to the end.

Through the generations much public criticism has been aimed at the family because it shut itself up against all civic doings or advancement. But all that fades away now because the last Wendel, in whose lap was this gigantic fortune, has bequeathed it all to fourteen great organizations that have to do with improving the welfare of people generally so that it may be spread out among the thousands.

It has all come back to the public.

A REVIVAL OF BILLIARDS.
Fair attendance and show of interest accompanied the final matches in Detroit which decided a local three-cushion billiard championship. The national three-cushion championship at Chicago last month seemed better and more prominently contested than in former years. New York City has just witnessed an 18.2 ballgame tournament in which the stars of that game—all except the present-day, super-star of them all, Young Jake Schaefer—participated. Perhaps this splendid game, meaning French, or carom, billiards, is coming in for a revival.

For keenness of eye, physical skill, test of nerve, it is due for remark that billiards ranks with any of the games intensively played nowadays. In all that makes a game except sheer strength or team work, we have never heard another game convincingly rated above billiards. Names of many great men can be cited who made billiards a chief recreation. There can be no doubts that the past 30 years has witnessed a steady decline of interest, and the game itself has attractions that would seem to entitle it to a new generation of billiard enthusiasts. A trouble by no means to be obscured has been very evident. Billiard halls, generally speaking, have been too thick with much else besides tobacco smoke that is objectionable. As the fact has tended to push them down, it needs to be considered as efforts are made to raise them up again.—The Detroit News.

YEP, LOOKS like we'll have a tough winter this spring . . . or maybe we can get all the snow shoveled off by Saturday . . . that's the big day . . . we see where Mayor Thompson's cabinet has resigned . . . and nobody gets excited . . . after all, what difference does it make?

"If," he worried, "this is going to be a typical Wisconsin snow storm, I'm going to get out."

But after all, the poor guys from Chicago DO take a terrible drubbing from all of us here in the woods on matters of bombs, machine guns, crooked government et al.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

THE TRICKSTER
He had wit and he was clever,
He was sharp and he was slick,
But no man can live forever
On the magic of a trick.
It may work when first you do it
But in time the crowd sees through it.
He used up his best feat quickly,
So another one he tried;
There's no doubt he worked it slickly,
But it soon was put aside.
Victims prattling to each other
Forced him to attempt another.

Soon the word was passed about him:
"When that fellow near you stands,
Never trust him, always doubt him,
Watch his fingers, watch his hands!"
Thus by warnings wise preceded
Cleverer, smarter tricks he needed.
What seemed easy now grew irksome,
But he scorned the ways of men,
Still believing he could work some
Bit of cunning now and then.
But, though cleverly he plotted,
Everybody had him spotted.

Times are tough and growing tougher,
Here he is at thirty-six
Just another clever duffer
Absolutely out of tricks.
And the years which lie before him
Hold a sorry prospect for him.

Looking Backward

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 22, 1906

On the first day of spring, Appleton experienced one of the most sudden drops in the mercury that had taken place that year, the temperature dropping from 21 above zero to five below in 24 hours. The forty-five mile gale of the previous night caused some damage in the city, especially in the fourth ward.

George F. Peabody was expected home from Florida that evening. The previous night on a brief business trip to Chicago.

Frank Murphy entertained a number of friends at dinner and cards at his home on E. College-ave, the previous evening.

Miss Birdie Farrell and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Kerne attended a musical at Neenah the previous evening.

J. E. Blackwood returned the day before from a four weeks' visit at Nashville.

Clarence Currie expected to leave for Toronto, Canada, within the next few weeks to begin spring practice with the Toronto baseball team.

TEN YEARS AGO

Thursday, March 17, 1921

Lawrence college had received $20,000 from the estate of the late Mrs. Mary J. Elcheltberg, wealthy Horicon woman who died the previous Saturday night, according to word received by Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of the college.

Three Appleton men, Earl Watson, Herbert Helle, and Alfred Root, had been elected to Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity at Lawrence college.

Zeta Omega sorority of Lawrence college had elected Mrs. E. H. Warner, Mrs. E. E. Emme, and Mrs. Walter E. Rogers as patronesses of the chapter.

Delta Chi Theta, an honorary professional fraternity, had been formed at Lawrence from the old Alembic society, a chemistry club.

John Plotow, Appleton, was to be initiated into Sigma Alpha Iota, national honorary music sorority at Lawrence college, the following Friday evening at the home of Mrs. W. H. Ryan, 541 Morrison-st.

Capt. W. A. Williams, Appleton, was on the reception committee for the ninth annual military ball to be held in the University of Wisconsin armory, Madison, on April 8.

Personal Health Talks

OUR OWN PLAN OF FARM

RELIEF

If every householder or person supporting himself or dependents were to go out and buy even a peck of wheat today what a fine thing that would be for the farmers who have wheat to sell. Granting the such direct dealing with the wheat grower would lower the demand for manufactured wheat products, that need not worry the producers and consumers much; the middlemen who take a profit from the wheat on its way to the consumer can afford to carry on for a time on low gear. They've been enjoying soft pickings long enough.

There is no little thing in the way of marketing or producing good food that is more healthful, more economical or more satisfactory in every respect than bringing home a bushel of wheat.

The first comment of the family, on seeing what "dad or Aunt Sarah has stowed in the back of the car is not complimentary. The head of the house has gone nuts. What in the world is he going to do with the food? Raise chickens? But never mind the wisecracker. Where did the folks who laugh at the idea of a human being eating unfrazzled wheat get their education? For that matter, where did they learn all they know about physiology, hygiene, nutrition and the like? It is a secret. Write in and I'll tell you.

There are many different ways of preparing or serving wheat. One of the simplest is described by a reader thus:

Put the water in a small pan come to a boil, then put a handful of wheat in it, and let it boil till the water is all evaporated and the wheat is bursting, serve with cream and a little sugar.

Others prefer to grind the wheat in the coffee grinder and then cook it in a double boiler—some like it cooked an hour or more; others like it cooked only a few minutes.

An excellent habit is to chew some wheat every day. This is particularly advisable as a wholesome substitute for gum chewing or tobacco chewing.

If you consume some wheat every day, in the past state, just as it comes from the threshing, you are getting the benefit of the mineral salts, vitamin, and bran, which are mostly removed by milling or by manufacturing processes.

A bushel of wheat in the pantry has solved the problem of the constipation habit in a great many households, not to mention the hum of money saved on physics.

Few denizens of the city nowadays are unable to get out where they can deal directly with the farmer at least find one who will sell wheat at the city market. If this is too far out of the rut for you, then you can always find wheat at the feed store or at the seed store. It is rather a test of your personality to buy it in some towns. You slip into the feed or seed emporium when you think no body is looking, and after pretending you're interested in everything else you come across the wheat bin accidentally. "Hello," you exclaim brightly, "what's this stuff—bird seed?" The guy explains it is wheat. "You don't tell me," you say, as you take a pinch of it and nibble at it. "Say, do you know, I kinda like it—just do me up half a bushel of that, please." But now comes the test. The dealer laughingly informs you that it isn't fit for human consumption in that form, but you will find such and such a preparation excellent . . . and if you're a wishy-washy personality the dealer sends you away with a package of real birdseed. Instead of the commodity you came after.

Ambulant Cure of Rupture

Is an operation the only cure for a small rupture that has never given any more than annoyance? The doctor who examined me turned me down because of it, but he said I could pass all right if the rupture was cured. (C. L. B.)

Answer—Good doctors everywhere are now successfully treating rupture by medicinal injections to obliterate the ring, while the patient wears a suitable truss. Sometimes small rupture is "cured" by means of simple exercises taken while the patient supports the ring with the hand.

All Washed Up

Kindly send me information concerning both hot and cold baths as a health measure. (R. W. E.)
Answer—Both may be useful aids in the treatment of various ailments. There are no hard and fast rules by which a layman may judge whether such treatment is advisable. Well, folks may be guided by their enjoyment of the bath—if it is pleasant and if one feels refreshed after the bath, it is all right.

Grapefruit Is No Loss

Three years ago I was injured by an automobile. Some damage to one kidney remains . . . they allow me to eat all the oranges, lemons and other fruit or vegetables I want, but they forbid me to eat any grapefruit. No reason is given, only I must eat no grapefruit, and that is the one I miss . . . (W. S. W.)
Answer—I wish it were possible for me to serve as pinch hitter in every case where any lucky stiff has been ordered not to eat grapefruit. I could cheerfully labor for years and years at that. Maybe the doctor has found you are hypersensitive to grapefruit, as some persons are to other particular foods such as lobster, strawberry. I can conceive no other reason why one who may eat oranges and lemons should not eat grapefruit—the I doubt the sanity of one who wants to eat it, especially when he might just as well have a nice orange.

The Growl of Borborygmus
I am much embarrassed by a rumbling noise in my stomach and intestines . . . (L. K.)

Answer—Correct your bad eating habits. Send 10 cents and stamped envelope bearing your address for "Guide to Right Eating." Meanwhile, like five small meals daily instead of three larger meals.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

ONE hammerhead began to scold, said Scouty. "It thinks we're too bold. Or maybe it's afraid that we will harm its little nest. Now, wouldn't that be mean of us. No wonder it makes such a fuss. Let's leave the little birds alone. I think that would be best."

"You're right," the Travel Man replied. And then he stepped to Scouty's side and gently slapped him on the back. "I like good boys," said he. "Most boys would try to scare those birds by shouting lots of crazy words, but you prefer to leave them. You are kind as you can be."

And now let's drive to Durban. We are bound to find new sights to see. It isn't very far from here and if we have good luck we'll get there ere the day is gone and then we'll sleep until the dawn." The Tynmites agreed to this and all hopped on their truck.

"Away they went, in spirits high. Some pretty scenery drifted by and now and then they'd pass a native who would wave his hand. "They are all friendly over here," said Copy. "There is naught to fear. Why, everybody we have met has treated us just grand."

They reached the town of Durban soon and shortly, "neath a brilliant moon, sat down, out in the open, and enjoyed a wondrous meal. Within a big hotel they slept. At dawn right out of bed they crept and Carry, as he washed himself, said, "Gee, how good I feel!"

Right after breakfast they all went out to a dairy farm and spent an hour or so at looking 'round. There was a lot to see. Said Scouty, "Gee, do they make cheese? And, could we have some, if you please?" The

Seen And Heard
In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—Jerry, the major domino at Sherry's is one of the most contented men on Park avenue. Jerry stands inside the door of the restaurant of fashion. His privilege and duty is to greet the blue-bloods as they arrive for luncheon, tea or dinner.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. So-and-So," Jerry is privileged to say. "Just back from Palm Beach?"

He probably wouldn't trade position with the wealthy escorts of his customers. For Jerry delights in knowing that he meets only "refined people." And he knows more about them than many of them do.

Acquainted With Society

He knows their family histories, when the mothers of debutante daughters "came out" themselves, how many times they have been divorced and, ah!—who Mrs. So-and-So had luncheon with a week ago Tuesday.

But discretion is Jerry's prime virtue. It pays—well, he has found. Jerry, a product of Ireland, has been with Sherry more than 40 years. He remembers when it was fashionable for clubs to give breakfasts on horseback. He directs the catering at private parties. Because he knows the names and faces of almost everybody who is anybody, his services are much in demand.

In 40 years he has never had a holiday. He is proud that he never has eaten a Christmas dinner with his family.

His wife, too, seems to be content. She is a member of several women's organizations, and gets about a bit in a certain stratum of society. It is said that she was the first woman in New York to drive her own car.

Manhattan Notes

Broadway, in its usual hunt for something new, has just discovered wrestling. And is going for it in a big way.

Of the many who play the winter away on Bermuda's beaches, two rate the title "commuter." Neither is a New Yorker. One is Edwin Evans, a retired business man of Providence, R. I. the other E. F. Hummert, a Chicagoan. Each makes a round trip about once a month. Hummert spends week-ends in his own cottage on the southern isle.

Jimmy Savo, musical comedy clown, is rated by many on Broadway as an American edition of Charlie Chaplin. Yet Savo, after years of vaudeville, is just breaking into the movies—in short comedies.

Bill Robinson, tap dancer, never declines a request to play in a benefit performance. He doesn't even bother to find out what the charity is. A recent Sunday night he was invited to appear at a benefit. As usual, he showed up. But he wouldn't go on after he learned that it was to be a show for the executives of a chain store organization, and that he and the other acts were to be paid.

A couple who live in a very fashionable Sutton place apartment buy household furnishings from a mail order catalog.

Don't ask why.

LA SALLE'S ASSASSINATION

On March 19, 1887, Rene La Salle, the greatest of the French explorers, was shot by two of his followers while exploring the Mississippi.

La Salle came to America at the age of 23 and became a trader in furs and the possessor of a tract of land in Canada. After a voyage of exploration from Lake Erie to Lake Superior and down the Mississippi, he took possession of the land around the Gulf of Mexico, called it Louisiana in honor of the French king, and went to France to get men and means to colonize it.

On his return, La Salle failed again to find the Mississippi, and wandered from place to place until nearly all his followers were dead. At last, giving up hope of reaching the land he was seeking, he set out for Canada with a small company in 1687. On the way, two of his men shot him.

La Salle was the discoverer of the Ohio and the first explorer of the greater part of the Mississippi river.

struggle with the rank of colonel in the Cuban army.

Dr. Juan Sucas, the Nicaraguan minister, had a price upon his head when he was in Washington a few years back. Then he was seeking recognition for the forces opposed to President Diaz.

And Dr. Chao-Chu Wu, Chinese minister representing his country's new nationalist government, has been a revolutionist too, but his mission has been to build up abroad a sympathetic sentiment toward China's nationalist aspirations.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY HERBERT FLUMMER

Washington—Long has the term diplomat been associated in the popular fancy with such words as glamour, romance, adventure.

You probably would be surprised were the opportunity given you to see assembled at one time all the members of the diplomatic corps in Washington. They more than likely would impress you no more than any other group of well-groomed, intelligent business men.

But despite the fact that it is difficult to see glamour, romance or adventure written in their faces, nevertheless it is true that some of them might justly claim the title of adventurer. If they cared to tell you of some of their experiences then the fictional diplomat might pale by comparison.

There is, for example, the Hon. Michael MacWhite, minister of the Irish Free State. Here is a man who was trained in pedagogy, but who has lived through about the most adventurous type of military activity.

He enlisted in the French Foreign Legion during the world war, and went out to Serbia, then swept by the Austrian invasion.

He is a north Irish man, but sympathizes with the south. He cast his lot with the Irish Free State when it was formed, instead of with the Ulster side.

Once Hunted Man
And there's the Polish minister, Tytus Filipowicz. Prison escapes and banishments dot his career. He has been harried and hunted as were so many of those who aspired to revolt under the Russian czar.

Born in Russian Poland, he was from his earliest youth involved with promotion of the Polish nationalist movement.

He fought with Marshal Pilsudski's legions. In 1919 he went to the Caucasus as chief of a Polish mission. Caught in the Bolshevik flood, he passed several months in a Red prison, and was later deported. But after the Peace of Riga, he was sent to Moscow as the first Polish minister to the soviet state.

Ex-Soldier of Fortune

Col. Orestes Ferrara, the Cuban ambassador, is another whose life has been colorful. He began his career as a soldier of fortune, and won international fame as a liberal leader. Famous as a revolutionist, he was known on two continents as a duelist.

A Neapolitan by birth, Colonel Ferrara was inspired to cast his lot with the revolutionists when Cuba revolted. He fought under the standard of Maximo Gomez, and came out of the brief but victorious

DRIVE AGAINST CRIME SPLIT BY MANY FACTIONS

Groups Disagree on Methods of Procedure and Points of Attack

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
New York—(C.P.A.)—The newly organized committee of fourteen, headed by William H. Baldwin, has complicated and possibly embarrassed the anti-crime drive in New York by a move to include the city's 35,000 speakeasies in the mopping-up campaign.

Through all the violent and virulent agitation which has rocked the city, the speakeasies, ordinarily denounced as working headquarters for racketeers and other criminals, have been immune from attack. This is explained by the fact that the leaders of the crusade against the administration have hesitated to alienate wet sentiment from their crusade. Prominent among the anti-Tammany faction are many leading wets and, so far, campaign strategy has sought to shelve prohibition complications.

Just how far the reform drive can go without facing the problem of speakeasies, as allies and investigators of crime, is questionable. Already there has been difficulty in holding the clergymen in leash.

Pastor Denounces

The Rev. Christian F. Kelsner, pastor of the Broadway skyscraper church, made a sharp denunciation of any reform which did not start with speakeasies as the logical starting place. While leaders of prohibition organizations have held back from the campaign to date, it is known that they are ready to throw in a powerful oar when the movement takes more definite shape. This unquestioned of whether it can bring the city now faces the question of whether it can bring about an old-fashioned cleanup without a showdown on speakeasies. Complications arising in the reform movement here are possibly typical of an ybig city where citizens move against a strongly entrenched political machine. There are 30 welfare and civic organizations in New York City. Taking the lead in this fight are the Society for the prevention of Crime, the Citizens' Union, the Committee of One Thousand, the City Affairs committee, the Young Lawyers' committee, the New York Federation of churches and the Committee of Fourteen—names that have a familiar sound in countless American cities which have been waging a century-old battle against municipal corruption. So far, they do not converge in any central leadership. Some of them are seeking a one-man inquiry, under Judge Seabury, and others are demanding a sweeping legislative investigation, while there is a division of opinion as to just how far the fight to unsat Mayor Walker should go.

Forces Split

Similarly, the political effects of this anti-corruption drive have been disruptive. The state Democratic party, like Caesar's Gaul, is split three ways. Charles F. Kerrigan, assistant to Mayor Walker, by his blistering denunciation of the governor's appointment of Judge Seabury to probe the district attorney has unquestionably forced Governor Roosevelt to the point of a break with Tammany. A strong Democratic faction is rallying around the governor. The assumption that Mr. Kerrigan was referring to former governor Alfred E. Smith when he spoke of "strong influences" ordering the Seabury investigation of the district attorney, in retaliation for Tammany's

The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with these persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The eleventh article will appear tomorrow.)

In the eyes of her fellow workers, Miss Bertha Klinko is the most important person working for the Post-Crescent because it is she who passes out the checks on pay day.

However, together with this glamour of importance, Miss Klinko is highly efficient as the Post-Crescent cashier and bookkeeper. From a maze of figures she creates order and a tabulated detail. Her position is a pivotal one, since Miss Klinko is the only person in the whole force whose work connects her with every department and the outside as well. The business of each of the departments—administration, circulation, editorial, advertising and mechanical—goes through her hands. She knows the operating cost of each department, she prepares the payroll for every employee and all accounts are payable to and paid by Miss Klinko.

Miss Klinko began working for The Daily Post six months before the consolidation of the Post and the Crescent. She lives in Appleton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Klinko, 1615 W. Carver-st. She is a member of St. Matthew Lutheran church.

Born in Greenville, Miss Klinko came to Appleton when she was small. She attended grade schools here and graduated from Appleton high school, where she studied a commercial course. She came to the Daily Post immediately upon graduation. Miss Klinko remembers the first job she ever had, that of clerking after school hours in one of the department stores.

For diversion Miss Klinko enjoys reading and golf. Comparatively new as a golfer, Miss Klinko is eagerly looking forward to warm weather that brings golfing days around again.

ELLIS HEARING SET FOR FRIDAY

Charge of Manslaughter Against Appleton Man to Be Heard

Preliminary hearing of Marvin Ellis, 27, 813 E. Atlantic-st., on a charge of manslaughter, is scheduled to be held Friday morning before Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court. Ellis was arrested in connection with the death of Anthony Bodmer, 51, 512 E. Atlantic-st., late in February. Bodmer's skull was fractured during an altercation in the yard in the rear of his home early in the morning of Feb. 10.

Police were first told Bodmer fell from the porch. Later this story was changed, and at the inquest Ellis and several other witnesses testified Ellis pushed Bodmer, the latter falling to the ground, fracturing his skull. The witnesses' testimony differed on several angles, however, and the inquest was adjourned. A "lie-detector" was brought here from Evanston, Ill., and when the instrument was used to question Ellis, he changed his story and admitted striking Bodmer.

Ellis was arraigned in municipal court, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to circuit court for trial. In circuit court, however, his attorney asked that the case be sent back to municipal court for hearing. There was no objection from the state, and the case was remanded.

Firemen Unhurt When Cap Blows Off Chemical Tank

A narrow escape from possible injury was experienced by several firemen last night as they were fighting a fire at the residence of John Erickson, N. Bennett-st. The steel cap was blown off a chemical tank on the hook and ladder truck. The chemical tank is located just under the driver's seat. In order to get it ready for use, it is necessary to twist the tank around, thus causing the chemicals to mix and form a gas which produces a high pressure inside the tank. Evidently the threads on the cap were worn, according to Fire Chief George F. McGilgan, and under the heavy pressure from within, the cap was forced off. If any of the men had been in the path of the cap they would no doubt have been injured. Along with the cap, there were several other pieces of brass fittings blown out.

Archie Patterson, one of the drivers, was standing on the opposite side of the truck when the explosion occurred. Luckily, however, the pieces of steel and brass were hurled to the vacant side. The blaze at the Erickson residence, which started from an over-

Don't Make Example Of Unruly Child

BY ANGELO PATRI

There was a scene in the classroom. Katherine, wiry, restless, proud spirited, had risen in her place and denounced the teacher in sharp shrill words. Tense silence gripped the classroom and the licensed teacher ordered Katherine out of the room. She went, still shrieking defiance.

"She was behind in her work at the beginning of the term but she has caught up nicely. We thought she was improving until this outburst. Of course, we must ask you to remove her from the school."

"But wait a minute. Let's look into this a little," said the father who had been summoned to explain his daughter's outrageous conduct. "Is there no other way out than removing the child from the school?"

"We don't think so. She must be made an example for the others. If a child can abuse a teacher in her classroom what sort of discipline shall we have? No, for the sake of the others, she must go. And she should know that she goes because of her bad behavior. We shall tell the other children about what we have done, and why, so they get the full benefit of the experience."

"But the physicians say that Katherine has overworked, that her nerves were strained beyond endurance and so she could not stand up under the strain of the work any longer."

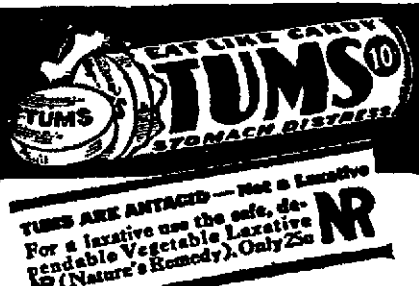

"That may all be. We are sorry for the child, of course, but we have to make an example or what would become of the place?"

Well, I'm not enthusiastic about

Does COFFEE Give You Sleepless Nights?

COFFEE (also other drinks and foods) often keep you awake. Frequently this is due to an acid condition they create. The next time you raid the ice box before retiring, eat two or three Tums (often only one Tum is enough) to relieve the heartburn, sour stomach, gas, acid indigestion, which cause many sleepless nights. Easy to prove—get a roll of Tums at any drug store and try them. Only 10c.

making examples of children. I have not found that making an example of one child has much effect upon the contrary. When such an occasion arose and we took it calmly, took the child out of the room with all gentleness, soothed him, searched for the cause of his difficulty and did what we could for his future comfort, set him as nearly right as we knew how, the rest of the school approved. They were with us. They are rarely with us when we insist upon our pound of flesh.

Children are well intentioned, and ready to cooperate with those who try to help them. They do not rally to the odd child who is against the government unless they see in it justice. Then they rally to the side of the underdog with tremendous enthusiasm.

I believe that any offense committed by a child should be kept as quiet as possible. The fewer people who know about it the better. The less publicity the better. Children in the stress and strain of living, under pressure far greater than grown people understand, do things that make adults of fear run down our spines. But that is no reason for branding the children as unfit. The untoward act may never be repeated. In any case, the less said the better.

Public apologies, public disgrace, publication of a child's offense should have no place in the education.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE
© 1929 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE trial started then. A night-mare that went on and on and on while people took turns sitting in the witness stand, answering questions one way for one lawyer, and contradicting themselves for the next one, merely because they weren't able to think clearly.

"They aim to please. Nice of them," Corrine had murmured.

The jury woke up and then grew sleepy. One day passed. Two days and then three.

Sybil's picture, as star witness for the state, had appeared in all the papers on the opening day of the trial, and Corrine had changed her mind about the wisdom of the older girl's costume.

"She does know her stuff. Black and white photographs better than green and black. Sue. She put one over on you. But her face is hard. Still, you've got to admit in your own features. Where did you get it?"

Sue hadn't answered. Nothing seemed very important, except that Jack was fighting desperately in a case that seemed to be losing ground by inches. Her mother was a little paler. Her father's courageous new suit dropped with the weary lines of the body that it fitted. But Ted's chin and Jack's chin were stubborn and unyielding.

The taxicab company had agreed to wait a few days for a settlement.

When the court adjourned on the third day... just before the morning session at which it was thought that the case would go to the jury... Jack pulled Sue aside.

"We're stumped, Sue. And yet we're in the right. I never saw such a chain of heavily linked, circumstantial evidence. The fact that I was trying to conceal the money bag from them which they had come to find... the time that your father turned in Sybil's keys that had been entrusted to him, and the one which would open the money bags was missing... but was found sticking in one of the bags—they are playing up every item!"

Sue remembered her own testimony in regard to the key ring. She had been forced to admit that Sybil had left the keys at her home, with her, with a request that they be delivered to Mr. Merryman so he could hand them to whoever would take Sybil's place on Monday morning, since she was going to be away. That had been on Saturday night. Sue had testified that they were all there when she received them. The bank testified that one was gone when Mr. Merryman turned them over.

She shuddered as she recalled it. But lies didn't help in a case where you were so desperately right!

"Sue, I've been following some leads... I was afraid to mention them for fear they might go fluey... but I think that tomorrow we'll blow up the oil can! I'll take you home now, and if anyone wants to know where I am, you haven't any idea. I don't exactly know where I'm going, anyway. And tomorrow... watch!"

But a strange fear stirred in Sue's mind. A dead, dull fear, like the one that had come creeping on the night when Sarah Sybil had been afraid of a slinking ghost.

"You'll be careful, won't you, Jack?" she asked.

"I'm safe enough," he answered. "Don't worry! You see, I've found out who Sybil's accomplice is. Some private detective work. He's the other fellow to whom your father delivered the money bags which he removed from the vaults on mornings when his hours gave him that duty. This fellow could take them where Sybil was in or out of town, and that removed suspicion away from her! I inquired around, found out with whom she was friendly at the bank, and checked up on their addresses. This man stayed at the place you took Sybil to in the taxicab."

NEXT: Corrine Becker and Sarah Slade grow restless.

MY NEIGHBOR Says—

Smoked ceilings may be cleaned by washing with clothes wrung out of water in which a small piece of washing soda has been dissolved.

Instead of chopping cabbage for slaw, use the coarse knife in meat grinder. You will find it much easier and the work is done just as well.

A couple of pinches of brown sugar put into soup that is too salty will remove the salty taste and still not sweeten soup.

With a small camelhair brush rub the broken edges of china and glass with a little carborundum oil varnish and it neatly put together the fracture will hardly be perceptible and will stand both heat and water.

Tarnished silver may be cleaned by rubbing with raw potato dipped in baking soda.

Tumblers that have been used for milk should always be washed in cold water before they are washed in hot. When this is done, the milk does not stick to the glass and they will not have a cloudy appearance. (Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Newspapers)

GIVE SPECIAL ATTENTION TO SILVERY HAIR

BY ALICIA HART

If your hair is a shiny halo of white about your face, you should give it unusually careful care. Nothing is less attractive, than white hair that is yellow, not lovely clear white.

Sometimes, I should caution you all at this point, medicines that you are taking have the effect of yellowing your white hair. But if you are healthy you can do much to make it a shining crown of gorgeous white hair.

Hot irons, hot air, hot water and sometimes even too much strong sunlight yellow white hair. Therefore avoid all of these. It isn't so hard to do.

Have the curling iron covered so that it does not directly touch the hair when you get a marcel. When you get a hair tonic, state that you want one that is especially good for white hair because some are guaranteed not to yellow white hair.

When you shampoo your hair, dry it by hand, not by a blast of hot air. Lift it and rub it dry, and incidentally, this makes it fluffier at the same time.

Certainly if you find that strong sunlight is making your white hair yellow you can wear a becoming hat when you take to the beach. Or cover your head when you take your sun bath via the electric lamp.

The way you shampoo your hair has much to do with keeping it lustroously white or making it yellow. In the first place white hair, needs washing more often than dark hair, just the way you have to wash a white blouse more often than a dark one.

Never rub soap directly on white hair, though I should add that this is a bad measure for any colored hair. Melt up your soap. It does not take long. And make a nice lather to wash your head in. Then rinse and rinse and rinse again. And into that last rinse water put a little French bluing. This gives that dazzling whiteness that makes folks exclaim over certain heads of white hair.

As a last measure of charm in bringing out the beauty of white hair, spray your head with a little scent. I suggest delicate fragrance such as the better choice. Something quite as dainty in its scent as the lovely halo of white hair itself is.

For the postscript you may or may not need on care of white hair, let me admonish you to, dedouble your carefulness in coiffure. White hair that is bobbed should never be allowed to grow a tiny bit too long. It should never be allowed to straggle down the back of the neck. It should be worn much more softly and graciously than dark hair. And you should keep it in place even if it means glancing into the mirror many times a day. For white hair is exacting. It demands the respect and care it deserves. And if given, it repays you by the compliments the world throws your way.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: I seem to be wretchedly unhappy all the time and I know that you are going to tell me it is because I am too sensitive. But try as I might I cannot correct this fault. I am very fond of a boy who seems to me quite perfect but he makes me miserable because he is interested in my girl friends. I try to keep him from meeting them as much as possible—since when he does meet them, it is torment to me. I hate to hear him paying them compliments and being sweet to them. Also I am very unhappy when I introduce one girl friend to another and the two seem to get along together so well that I am left out. I have often lost a friendship through my unhappiness over this sort of situation. Am I foolish, or just too tender-hearted? I want my friends to love me and it hurts me when they love other people much better.

TROUBLED HEART. You're primarily self-centered. You're thinking most of the time how you can get happiness from your friendships. And because you have an entirely jealous disposition, you find you can't get any happiness unless you're the only friend on the scene.

It isn't a question of being tender-hearted. It's a question of being possessive. You want those you love all for yourself, and you can't have them that way—since the girls and boys you know are normal human beings who intend to have as many friends as possible in the world.

You lack confidence in yourself or you would not be so ready to believe that your friends were going to turn away from you immediately because they had found new friends.

If you introduce Peggy to Alice, don't assume because they like each other that you're going to be an outcast. Only your attitude makes you an outcast. If you show immediately that you're offended because Alice likes Peggy and wants to see her again, you naturally turn both girls against you. The possessive jealous instinct makes you unattractive. No normal girl likes to feel that you're placing limitations on her friendships—or that she must account to you for every new relationship she forms.

And in the same way no boy enjoys being jealously guarded from even the most casual contacts with all members of the fair sex, but yourself. Even if he is deeply in love with you he is perfectly aware that there are other attractive girls in the world and he enjoys meeting them and talking to them. If you attempt to place any restrictions about this sort of thing on the average man, he will resent your interference bitterly.

You must learn then to take things calmly. And you must learn that it's quite natural for your friends to like each other. Figure it out that if they really like you, no amount of new friendships will take them away from you. The only thing which takes them away from you is your own unnatural attitude. You're entirely to blame for your troubles, and your frame of mind has come about from thinking too much of yourself. Try to take a good healthy interest in external things for a while, and you'll overcome this morbid tendency to be unhappy about every friend you possess.

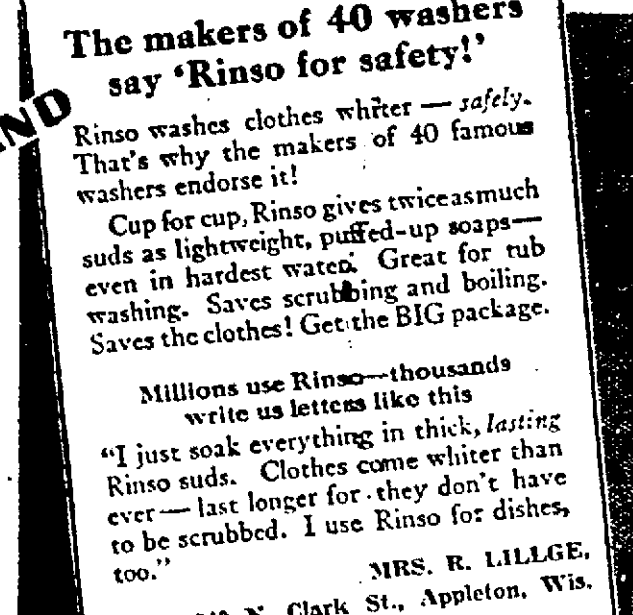

WORRIED BLUE: Troubled heart has much the same problem as yourself, and her answer does for you. As to you falling in love with your cousin—don't you think that might have come about because you have seen so much of him and because he was practically the first attractive boy you ever saw? Since you are the moody, introspective type, you haven't reacted out toward other friendships and you have made a perfect god of this cousin.

Also with your natural instinct for guarding whatever you possess you have tried to keep him to yourself, and the competition from other girls has made you even more strongly attached to him. If you were to gain a more normal frame of mind, you'd find yourself less wrapped up in him. I am sure.

COUNCIL BUYS LAND STRIP TO EXTEND STREET

900 Feet of Property Purchased by City from Fred Staffeld

Neenah—The city council Wednesday evening purchased an 800 foot strip of land owned by Fred Staffeld to complete the road connecting Winnechaw with Laddave, as proposed by the state highway commission. The option secured by John W. Staffeld, city engineer, for $2,500, provides that the city erect a house on both sides of the road when the road is completed.

The plan is to cut the road through Mr. Staffeld's property. On motion of Alderman William Schmidt, the purchase will be made according to the option. The state has set aside a certain amount of money for constructing this road on the west side of the city as a connecting link between highway 41 and the river road leading to Appleton and north. It is believed this will relieve traffic congestion on highway 41.

Upon recommendation of the planning commission, the clerk was instructed to secure plans for a four-colored zoning map of the city. A price of $200 was submitted by an engraving company to supply the plates, but the council will call for bids. The recommendation from the planning commission for the opening of Stevens' south of Fairview was accepted and the clerk will secure options on land. The commission also approved the purchase of the property at corners of Smith, Martin and Isabella streets to straighten out that intersection. On motion of Alderman Marten, an option will be secured on the property which now stands in the way of the improvement.

Referred to Committee
A request from the Jaeger-Dowling automobile company, asking permission to use a piece of service work building at its garage on N. Commercial-st., which request had been refused by the board of public works, was referred to the board.

A communication from the executive committee of the Wisconsin Citizens committee on unemployed, recommending a five-year free tax on new residence buildings, was referred to the city attorney. The communication also suggested that the free tax be extended to cover new industrial and business buildings which might be erected here.

The city was asked to proceed with its building program to take advantage of the present low prices. An application from J. W. Munz for a license to operate a roller skating rink in the S. A. Cook armory building was referred to the committee on police and health. Harry Zemlock, city clerk, reported the bid of the Standard Oil company to furnish oil for $44 cents a gallon had been accepted. This was the lowest bid of the 10 submitted. Perpetual care of cemetery lots of W. Engle, E. Seifeld, F. Schlin and August Drahm, was reported by the clerk, and proper checks covering the work had been accepted.

The finance committee reported on the $5,500.22 which were authorized paid. New tires for the two fire trucks was authorized purchase. Finance committee was authorized to rebate taxes amounting to $450.

A request will be sent to the Chicago-Northwestern railroad company asking it not to allow its freight trains to stop in front of the Washington school. Small children, afraid of being late to school in the morning, have been seen crawling under the train which blocks the crossing in the morning.

DARTBALL LEAGUES SCHEDULE BANQUET

Neenah—Teams of the American and National dartball leagues have arranged for a banquet at 7 o'clock Thursday evening at Elk's hall, Menasha. The banquet will wind up dartball activities for the season. Plans will be made for next year's league activities. Following the supper, a special match game will be played by the Lewis Specials and the Gear Dairy team, the latter the runners up in the finals of the league games. The championship for the season was won by the Neenah club team.

MAY ABANDON PLANS TO BROADCAST GAMES

Neenah—Plans to broadcast the Neenah high school basketball games at the state tournament at Madison next week may be abandoned it is reported. Fans here report that reception from the Madison station is poor during the evening because of interference from other stations. Arrangements had been completed by a group of merchants, club members and manufacturers to broadcast all games in which Neenah takes part. Another test of the station's reception is to be made Thursday evening.

PETITIONS FILED FOR BUSINESS FUND

Neenah—Petitions asking that the city establish a fund of $2,000 annually to encourage new business enterprises in Neenah were filed Wednesday evening with the city clerk with enough signatures to place the question on the ballot at the April 7 election. It was reported. This question, that of electing members of the board of education by the general public, and general garbage collection, will be voted upon.

FAVORS SCHOOL BOARDS PICKED BY RESIDENTS

Elective Bodies Advocated by Dr. John Guy Fowikes of U. W.

Neenah—Public control of the schools through elective boards of education was advocated by Dr. John Guy Fowikes of the University of Wisconsin, who addressed the Kiwanis club on the subject, Neenah's Great Investment in its schools, last Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. at the Kiwanis luncheon and meeting Wednesday night at Valley inn.

In discussing educational problems Dr. Fowikes emphasized four subjects: Schools and the meaning of education; the function of the public schools; methods of modern education; and the control of the public schools by the taxpayers and parents. He said in part:

"Last June, during the closing day of the 1929-30 school year of the University of Wisconsin, while passing through the corridor, I saw one student rush up to another and heard a conversation somewhat as follows: 'Aren't you tickled that your education will be over next week?' and the fervent reply, 'Yes, thank Heaven. It's an over, the shouting!'"

"Unfortunately this same conversation can be heard at the close of most any school year. But as a matter of fact, instead of cause for rejoicing, the thought expressed above brings genuine wonder and sadness. The education of any individual is the sum total of experiences from which such an individual learns. The complete education of a person cannot be gained in school. We in this country have established and maintained a number of institutions by means of which it is hoped all citizens will have certain common experiences."

"The public school is the outstanding one of such institutions, but it is by no means the only one. Illustrations of other institutions which are maintained either directly or indirectly by public support are our parks, theatres of various kinds, museums, libraries, forestry reserves and so forth. All educational institutions, consequently, it seems imperative that professional educators and individual laymen alike give rather critical attention to what it is a proprietary group expects of all these institutions."

Two Value Theory
As to functions of public schools, the speaker said: "From time immemorial, it has been generally accepted that schools should offer experiences which have one or two kinds of values, namely, general cultural value or vocational value. For a long time schools at both the higher and lower levels offered experiences whose value, save for a small number of professional workers, were of a questionable nature. During the past 25 years, one has seen the introduction of a multitude of vocational and pre-vocational courses in both our elementary and secondary schools. One has heard from all sides the demand that the offerings of a school be of highly utilitarian nature."

"The men and women of this and other modern communities early discovered that the first necessity of life is that of earning a livelihood, and of parallel importance is the possession of tastes, appetites, and attitudes. When you and I were in school, the classroom teachers were considered reigning autocrats from whom there was no appeal. We were required to march to and from class in lockstep fashion, maintaining a silence which would have done credit to any modern prison. We were persuaded either gently or harshly to maintain a so-called attitude of professional respect toward our school masters. Compare this with any modern high school where, when the bell rings, the students move to and from classes in natural chance fashion in much the manner as we adults go through the corridor of a theatre or an art gallery."

Students Better Read
"Twenty-five years ago, if you asked a child in the elementary school to bound the state of Virginia, he could do it with ease, but if you asked him to trace a route of a crop of wheat from a Kansas farm to a Liverpool elevator, he would have been completely lost. The boys today cannot bound Virginia but consider it a lark to trace the crop wheat, especially a well read youngster."

"It should be recognized that one of the chief functions of a good modern high school should be that of developing avocational interests which boys and girls should carry through life."

"Despite the fact that most of my time and efforts are spent in connection with some school activity, more and more I experience a vibrant thrill over my relation to public schools in the capacity of a citizen rather than that of a professional worker. I realize that I have had an active part in the selection of the administrative body which acts as a council of the school system, the chief executive who administers this system of public schools. This privilege of active participation in the control of public schools at Madison is mine because a board of education consisting of seven members elected at large is the administrative body of the Madison school system. Political economists and technicians alike are rather universally agreed that such a scheme of control is by the most desirable plan of organization for a local school system. Proof of this is that approximately 90 per cent of the boards of education in Wisconsin are elective boards chosen at large. Such a plan guarantees representation of a community as a whole. It offers every citizen

MOVE TO DRAFT WEALTH IN WAR ISN'T POPULAR

or with private property is directly related to morale which in itself is the outstanding necessity during war.

The cost of the World war in money has been estimated at approximately one hundred eighty-six billion dollars. The entire value of all property in the United States, in fact the entire wealth of the country, was estimated by the census bureau at one hundred eighty-seven billions in 1912.

It was assumed for years in advance of the World war that a great conflict could not be financed. "Competent authorities," said Mr. Meyer, "stated that within a comparatively few months the entire financial structures of the governments involved would break down under the strain, yet in the face of the apparent impossibilities, the World war continued for some what more than four years, bringing from time to time additional nations and proceeding on an increasingly large scale."

"The lesson to be learned from this is that the course of war depends on the resources of mankind, supplies and morale, and that finance is only incidental to these." The prospects of any legislation on what should be done in war time with wealth or manpower are rather meagre. Pressure has been exerted from time to time to get some kind of laws enacted, which, it was believed, would act as a detriment toward the making of war because it would have to stand its burden. Inasmuch as no congress can be committed by the acts of its predecessors, even if any legislation were passed it could promptly be revealed when the country was confronted with the actual problem of making war.

Lawrence Varsity Track Team Defeats Freshmen, 46 and 29

BOB ROEMER SETS RECORD IN MILE RUN

Bernie Fahres, Sheboygan, Edwards of Oshkosh, Show Well for Fresh

LAWRENCE college varsity track stars won eight first places in an indoor tournament with the freshmen squad and easily copped the meet last night at the gym. The team also annexed five second places. The score was 46 to 29.

Only one new record was set last night, Bob Roemer, Appleton, romping around the track with ease to take the mile run in 5 minutes, 22.8 seconds. He bettered the old Lawrence record of 5 minutes, 33 seconds, set several years ago.

Viking track men have been working in the indoor track room for several weeks and will take to the outdoor as soon as the weather reaches a stage where it can be depended upon.

The Denney squad will be defending the state championship it won at Carroll last spring when it goes to Ripon in May. Many of last year's sure point winners have left school but if the squad continues to improve in track events and a couple of the huskies who are available crash through in weight events, Lawrence again will have an evenly balanced team.

Fahres is picked to win the middle distance race and the mile. Eickmeyer is the best bet in the dashes and in the broad jump. Calhoun and Schier are the leaders in the pole vault and Marston the high jump. He also is trying hard for perfection in the high and low hurdles. Ed Weld also is expected to be a point getter in the latter event.

Freshmen who showed very well last night were Bernie Fahres and Edwards, the former from Sheboygan and the latter from Oshkosh. Both are former Fox River Valley conference track stars.

Fahres took second in the 50 yard dash, and third in the shot put. Edwards copped all the hurdles events showing form that hasn't been seen here in several years. He also took second in the broad jump.

Results of the events follow:

BAN LIFTED ON 15 SCHOOLS, COLLEGES

North Central Group Reinstates Butler U., Crane Junior College

Chicago—(P)—Butler university of Indianapolis and Crane junior college of Chicago were recommended for reinstatement in the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools by the association's board of review at the annual convention.

The recommendations were virtually the same as official reinstatement as all recommendations of the board are accepted in accordance with the two institutions were suspended last year for failure to live up to the standards of the association.

Thirteen other colleges in the association's territory of 20 states were recommended for approval in the report.

The board of review, in its annual report read by H. M. Gage, president of the association, Cedar Rapids, Ia., recommended no definite action in the dispute with Northwestern University. President Gage said the North Central body did not wish to make investigations unless Big Ten schools desired them and with his statement, the incident was considered closed.

WELTERS MUST FIGHT AGAIN TO GET PURSES

Los Angeles—(P)—Andy Divoli and Paulie Walker, New York welterweights must fight again to collect purses for a battle Tuesday night which ended with the victory awarded Divoli on a fourth round foul.

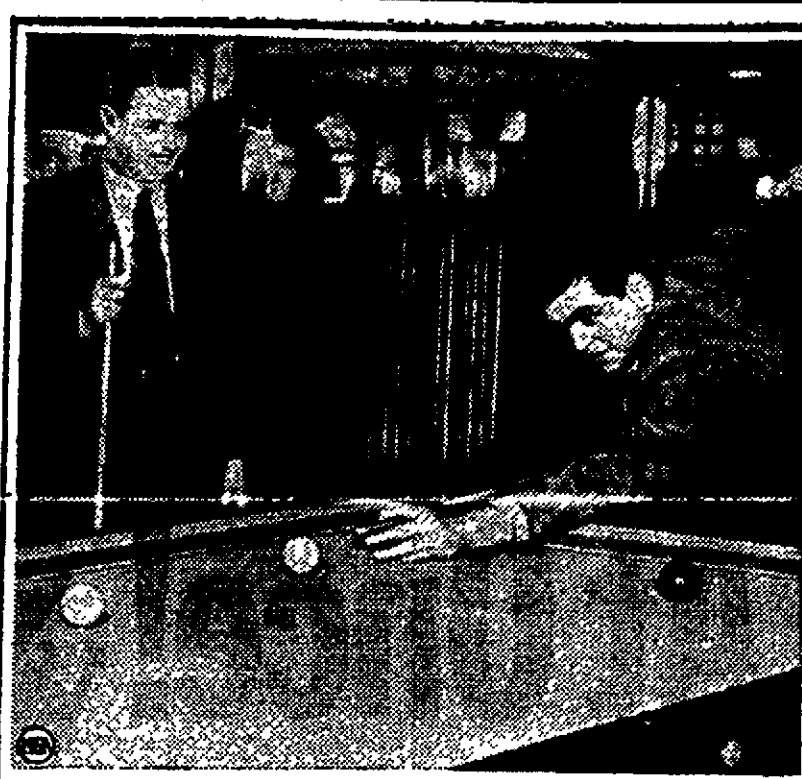

Dr. Harry W. Martin, state athletic commission chairman, said the purses were withheld in accordance with Tuesday's new commission rules and that he would urge the two to appear as a special attraction on a card next Tuesday night.

The bout would follow the Goldie Jones-Tod Morgan 10 round affair at the California lightweight title.

"Rather than forfeit their purses the state," Dr. Martin said, "we give them a chance to make money in a fight."

San Francisco, Calif.—Meyer Grace, Chit, outboxed Buddy Gorman, 10, 10.

Just a Big Shot Clubman

Recognize the gent above who is taking dead aim on the little cue ball? He is none other than Luis Angel Firpo in his new role of "Wild Bull of the Billiard Table." Firpo is a wealthy clubman and automobile salesman in his native Buenos Aires. He's remembered in this country, though, as the wild man who knocked Jack Dempsey out of the ring.

Giants Have Chance To Win Senior Loop Flag

BY JOHN B. FOSTER Copyright 1931

SAN ANTONIO, (CPA)—The New York Giants stand a better chance of winning the championship of the National league this year than they did last.

The Cubs are fully as much in the race, and so, too, are the Pittsburgh Pirates. Pittsburgh should be more of a possibility than in 1930 if everything goes well with them. However, reports about Paul Waner are not as flattering as they might be. That bit of the stingers, or whatever it was that bit him, was bad.

More and more, managers know that the outfield must be a depend-

Training Camp Notes

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. — (P)—John McGraw, New York Giants manager, at last has explained why he likes to direct every move his pitchers make during a game.

"My one regret," McGraw says, "is that I did not start out as a pitcher. I always wanted to be a pitcher, but they made me play in the infield. But pitchers still fascinate me more than any other department in baseball. All the real artistry of the game is to be found in pitching."

Ft. Myers, Fla. — (P)—Despite their great potential batting strength, the Brooklyn Robins are becoming a bit worried about hitting as their exhibition tour progresses. Babe Herman, formerly their outstanding clouter, has not shown much so far and the Robins believe he has been trying too hard to keep up with the ex-Philadelphia, Frank O'Doul. The current belief is that Herman may have a bad season if he is not able to get the batting lead right at the start.

Los Angeles, Calif. — (P)—Leo "Gaby" Hartnett of the Cubs, who broke all records for catchers last season by crashing out 37 home runs, looks fit for another big year. Hartnett has slammed out a homer in each of the past five games either as a pinch hitter or as a regular in the lineup. His throwing arms, which went limp in 1929 and came back strong last year, is in excellent shape.

Winter Haven, Fla. — (P)—Barney Friberg, man of all work and now the oldest player on the Phillies' roster in point of service, has been named captain. He succeeds Francesco Thompson, traded to Brooklyn. "Friberg gets the office," Manager Shotton said, "because he just naturally seems to be captain. He will look after our rights and can demand justice from an umpire without losing his head or exploding." Friberg has been with the Phillies five seasons.

Philadelphia — (P)—Temple university football players are having spring football practice daily here on the skyscraper roof of their new recreation building on North Broad street in the heart of the city. "Gridiron" is 185 feet long and 150 feet wide, surrounded by a four-foot stone coping.

St. Petersburg, Fla. — (P)—The players who believe the saying "as Ruth goes, so go the Yankees" believe that New York's chances of winning the American league pennant are getting better daily. The Babe complains that he is getting in shape too fast, but instead of loafing through exhibition games as in past years he is working hard in the field, running out every hit, and keeping his tongue busy in the odd moments encouraging his mates. So far Ruth has failed to satisfy the home run demands of the fans but he has hit a .350 clip through eight exhibition games.

Fort Myers, Fla. — (P)—Howard Ehmke, Athletics' winning pitcher in the opening world series game against the Chicago Cubs in 1929, loomed today as a possible comeback. Asked to confirm reports that the veteran would rejoin the A's, Manager Connie Mack said: "If Ehmke says his arm is sound and that he is ready to pitch again he can have a job with us. His word that he is in shape to work is sufficient. We need pitchers and if he says the word we certainly can use him."

VIKE GRAD HAS TEAM IN MADISON TOURNEY

Lawrence college students of a few years ago have more than a passing interest in the state tournament at Madison next week when they hear that Verle "Pony" Clark who cavorted for Coach A. C. Denney back many years ago is coach of the Blair high school team which won the Eau Claire district tourney. The championship game was the nineteenth straight win by Clark's team.

Another former Lawrence man and member of a Denney coached team, George Schlagenhauf is coach of the St. Croix Falls team. His squad lost its championship game by two points in the Rice Lake tournament. Cumberland was the winner.

MIDWEST CLOSES GREATEST SEASON IN CAGE HISTORY

Carleton College Team Won Crown for Fourth Consecutive Year

MOUNT VERNON, IOWA—The ninth basketball campaign of the Midwest conference schools recently ended after one of the best seasons on the court during the history of the college league. Without a single defeat, Carleton college won the Midwest title again this year for the fourth consecutive year.

In winning its four titles, the Carls have won 30 out of 31 Midwest games, and have won the last twenty-seven of this number without a single reverse. Outside of Midwest competition they have lost only one game excepting Big Ten contests.

During the last court season, the Carleton team amassed a total of 258 points against its seven league opponents, while the tight defense of the Gophers held their rivals to 140 points. Although resting in second place, Cornell has the satisfaction of heading all of the other losers but the champion Carleton outfit.

Monmouth Stopped Vikings Lawrence and Monmouth had great hopes at the start of the season for contending aggregations. Monmouth threw the greatest scare of the year into the Carleton team when the latter won a 17 to 15 game at the start of the season. Lawrence moved on high until Monmouth clipped the Vikings only to be followed by Cornell, and then by Carleton.

Ripon was kept out of a three-cornered tie for third place by Cornell, but the Badgers were second high in team scoring. Johnson, Ripon center, also annexed individual scoring honors for the season.

The Chuteers were unable to locate the hoop in the first half and trailed at the rest period by a count of 11 and 6. In the last quarter Little Chute long shots found their mark and when the final whistle blew the Green Bay squad led by a single point.

"H" BOYLE of Fond du Lac copped the scoring honors of the Fox River Valley basketball conference for the season which just closed. He counted 28 field goals and 13 free tosses for a total of 69 points.

Second place honors went to Wegner, Oshkosh forward, who counted 66 points. Froelich, Sheboygan was third and Arsch, Marinette, was fourth while Bill Peotter of Appleton came fifth with 19 field goals and 13 free throws for a total of 50 points.

Appleton's defense was the best of any conference team only 113 points being scored against the team, an average of 11.3 per game. Offensively the team has only a fourth place rating the squad registering but 163 points and of course 59 of the points came from one man.

STATE SWIMMERS TO MEET IN MILWAUKEE

Holders of 9 Records Will Compete in Title Events Wednesday

Milwaukee—(P)—Nine of the 11 holders of state swimming championships are entered in the annual championship event to be held at the Milwaukee Athletic club next Wednesday.

The two absentees will be Art Thompson, 150-yard backstroke champion and Arnold Meyer, holder of the 200-yard breast stroke title. Douglas Wade, Beloit, will defend his 100-yard free style title. Walter Falk, winner of the 500-yard free style race last year and LeRoy Bentler, fancy diving champion, are entered.

Women's champions to enter are: 100 yard back stroke, Evelyn Falch; 100 yard back stroke, Doris Gastrau; 100 yard breast stroke, Ruth Dieroff; fancy diving, Elizabeth McKillop; 150 yard medley, Ruth Dieroff; 50 yard free style, Doris Gastrau. Tom Larkin, athletic director of the club, expects about 100 swimmers to compete, with some 50 of them coming from clubs throughout the state.

Rockne Is Not Dismayed Over New Irish Standards

BY LAWRENCE PERRY Copyright 1931

New York—(CPA)—Knute Rockne is not dismayed by the more rigid standards of scholastic eligibility which Notre Dame will apply next fall nor by the new regulations which will prevent freshmen from paying their way by working at jobs.

While Knute knows better than anyone that the free flow of material will be checked, he has never relied upon this in looking forward to the building of a team. He is above all things a developer and if anyone thinks that he has merely been a handler of specially qualified material he is doing Rock a great wrong.

Does anyone recall an interlude toward the end of the Southern California game when a quarterback named Jaskowitz went in and made things hum? Probably the name has not registered upon the national mind. It will be prominently fixed by next November, however. This boy had no experience whatever as a freshman. He had played good

OSHKOSH BOWLERS ROLL HERE SUNDAY

Appleton Boosters Kegled Tuesday Night; M. Wagner Scores 671 Series

Eighteen bowling teams from Oshkosh will roll in the state Elks tournament Sunday, according to tournament schedule. Ten teams will take the runways at noon with eight more follow at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Tuesday evening ten Appleton booster teams rolled in the meet but their scores do not count in the standings. The teams were the Jones Hotel, Packers, Fox Oil and Gas, Liether Grain, Outagamie Millers, Hilbert Specials, Storn's Five, County Minnuna, Hopfenperger Choice Meats and the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The best team score was turned in by the Liether Grain company team, 2815. M. Wagner of the grain turned in all the high scores of the day with a 204, 225, 242—671 for the highest series score reported here this year.

APPLETON MERCHANT NINE MEETS TONIGHT

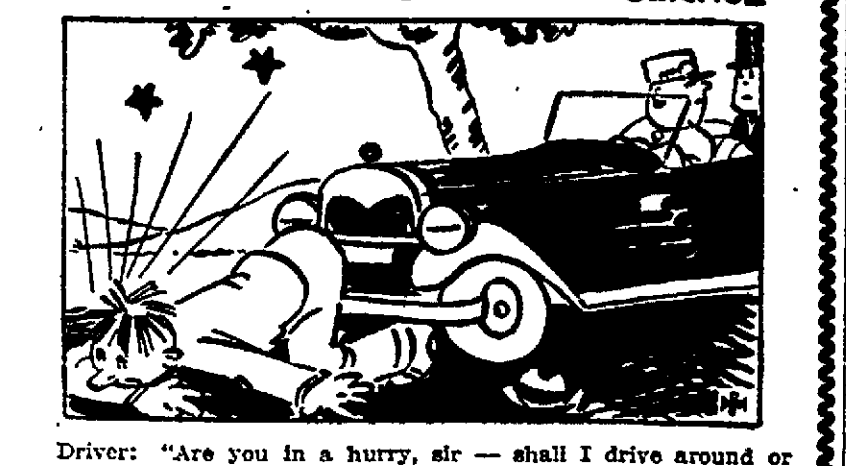

Appleton Merchant baseball players will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Y. M. C. A. The men will discuss the coming baseball season and will organize a club. The team last year belonged to the Central Wisconsin league and finished in the first division after leading the loop most of the year.

ONLY ONE CHAMPION HAS EVER REPEATED IN STATE CAGE MEET

Madison—(P)—If former years are indices, Neenah's chances of retaining the state basketball championship are none too bright despite the fact that the Rockets have demonstrated their "class."

Down through a quarter century, only one team has been able to take the state title in successive years, and that was before the tournament assumed a truly statewide importance. The team was Fond du Lac, and the Fox River valley five copped in 1915 at Appleton and repeated the next year, at Milwaukee when the state split and held two meetings.

FRENCH STAR GOES INTO SEMI-FINALS OF TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Borotra Beats Frank Bowen in 28 Minutes; Frank Shields Rests

NEW YORK—(AP)—Although two of the leading players of the national indoor tennis championships have fallen by the wayside in the singles play, the outstanding stars, Jean Borotra of France and Frank Shields of New York, still appear to be headed for a final clash and all the seeded doubles teams are safely into the semi-finals.

Borotra swept into the singles semi-final yesterday with his fourth straight set victory, a 25-minute triumph over Frank Bowen of New York. He is due today to face Perrine Rockafellow, a New York player who added to his fame as an indoor player by eliminating Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, second seeded American player, in straight sets. Shields had a day off in the singles before his quarter final match today with Pierre Landry of France, his first strong opponent of the tournament. The other quarter-final match in the lower half of the draw brings together Berkeley Bell, of Dallas, Tex., third of the seeded American players, and Bill Aydelotte, chunky New Yorker who won the title in 1928 and who provided the second big upset of yesterday's singles play by defeating Christian Bouskus, young French star, in two hard sets.

The schedule for the doubles semi-finals calls for a meeting between the first and third of the seeded American teams in one half and the second pair, Bell and Merritt Cutler of New York, against Borotra and Bouskus. Sutter and Landry-France-American combination, who were seeded first, meet Aydelotte and Rockafellow, experienced doubles partners and indoor champions in 1928.

SCHNEIDER AND AHL AT OSHKOSH TONIGHT

Leo Schneider, Milwaukee, and Hans Ahl, Oshkosh, headline a fight card which marks resumption of amateur boxing at Oshkosh tonight. The two boys fought here last year and Schneider gave Ahl a licking. Two Appleton boys are on the card. Art West meets Hartman of Oshkosh, a youngster who gave him a beating a couple weeks ago and Art Schroeder, Appleton, returns to the ring after a long absence. Zep Taurig, Manitowish, fights in the semi-windup.

NO MAN SHOULD ADVERTISE THAT HE'S HARD UP THIS SEASON. "Broke" or not — he simply hasn't the right to make everybody else feel bad.

When You CAN'T QUIT

A headache is often the sign of fatigue. When temples throb it's time to rest. If you can't stop work, you can stop the pain. Bayer Aspirin will do it, every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and carry-on—in comfort.

Don't work with nerves on edge or try all day to forget a nagging pain that aspirin could end in a jiffy! Genuine aspirin can't harm you; just be sure it's Bayer.

In every package of Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, etc. Carry these tablets with you, and be prepared. To block a sudden cold on the street-car; quiet a grumbling tooth at the office; relieve a headache in the theatre; spare you a sleepless night when nerves are "jumping."

And no modern girl needs "time out" for the time of month! Bayer Aspirin is an absolute antidote for periodic pain.

Take Bayer Aspirin for any ache or pain, and take enough to end it. It can't depress the heart. That is medical opinion. That is why it is only sensible to insist on the genuine tablets that bear the Bayer cross. The pocket tin is a convenient size. The bottle of 100 tablets is most economical to buy.

FREE, to Farmers this new Crop-Cost Method

If you grow corn or potatoes, you cannot afford to be without this new Crop-Cost Method. There is a special blank for each crop. This new method makes it easy to keep an accurate record of your costs—so know to a penny how much profit you make on every bushel you grow. Get your copy today—free, at the nearest dealer listed below.

Cut Your Costs Increase your PROFITS

LOW production cost is the biggest single factor in increasing farm profits. When you know your costs you can control them. Then and only then can you keep a firm hold on your own business.

What does it cost to grow potatoes? The average is $79.04 an acre. The average yield is 123.5 bu.—so, each bushel costs the "average farmer" 64 cents. But it doesn't pay to be an "average farmer," when other farmers are increasing their yields to 300 and 400 bushels an acre and growing their potatoes for as low as 33 cents a bushel. The difference between a cost of 33 cents a bushel and 64 cents a bushel means as much as $100 an acre extra profit.

It's the same way with corn. The average cost is 73 cents a bushel, the average yield 31 bu. an acre. But you can't make profits on yields like that. You don't have to, for other farmers are getting anywhere from 60 to 100 bushels an acre and growing their corn for as low as 22 cents a bushel and making real profits even when prices are low.

The surest way to increase your profits is to use enough of the right kind of fertilizer. Try AGRICO, the premier "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer, this season. Keep a record of costs and profits on our new Crop-Cost Blank. See for yourself how AGRICO increases your yields, reduces your costs per bushel, and increases your margin of profit.

Your nearest "AA QUALITY" dealer—see below—will give you these new Crop-Cost Blanks. Tear out this ad and take it to your nearest dealer.

NEW LIGHTING SYSTEM SOUGHT BY CITY GROUP

Advancement Association to Discuss Subject at Next Meeting

Kaukauna—Ornamental lighting for the city will be discussed at the meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement Association at 630 Wednesday evening, March 25, according to John Coppes, president. The meeting will be preceded by a dinner.

An ornamental lighting system for the city, at least in the business district, was suggested at a meeting of the city council recently. It was predicted that ornamental lighting would soon become a reality here. The matter has been discussed by business men on both sides of the river for some time.

Figures compiled by the electric department show that the cost of installation would be about $1.15 per running foot. Cost of the installation would have to be borne by the property owners and city, but the upkeep would be maintained by the electric department. Lamps similar to those recently installed on Oak street would be used.

A report by Walter P. Hagman, general chairman of the Mid-Winter fair in February will be submitted. A report on the financial standing of the Advancement club also will be given. Discussion of organization of a garden club in the city also is expected to be held.

Kaukauna—Judge Fred V. Heinemann of Appleton spoke at the weekly meeting of the Kaukauna Rotary club Wednesday noon at Hotel Kaukauna. He discussed Old Age and Widows' pensions. The advantage of the county spending money for pensions was explained by Judge Heinemann. Instead of using the money to maintain poor houses and old peoples' homes, it is paid out in pensions, he pointed out. In this way old folks can live in their usual surroundings among friends. They are free to come and go as they like and can follow their daily lives as they wish, he said.

SOCIETY GIRL PLUNGES TO DEPTHS OF DEPRESSION

Nervous and run-down from endless round of theatre, benefit dance, bridge and tea, modern women often lose control of their health and become anemic and listless. The 3 "V's", Vim, Vigor and Vitality can be found in the sparkling eyes, winning smile, carriage, courage, ambition and achievement of these who see to it that their bodies are enriched by the other 3 "V's", the Vitamins, B, C and D.

Just how Vitamins work is not easily understood by the lay folk—the doctors, the hospitals, the clinics, the specialists, these men have found after thousands of tests that Vitamins are these elements stored in fresh fruits, in certain oils, fresh vegetables and other foods which are life-sustaining and positive essentials in building health as nature intended. Vitamins supply life in concentrated form, palatable, ready to take and assimilate with ordinary meals. Vitalex, the New Day Tonic and Food Supplement contains Vitamins B, C and D. MILLION TONS OF ALFALFA RAISED IN STATE IN 1930

Crop Passed Million Mark for First Time in History of Wisconsin

Madison—Wisconsin's alfalfa hay crop of last year reached a million tons for the first time in history. In addition to being the largest crop of alfalfa hay the state has ever produced it was also one of good quality, according to the crop reporting service of the Wisconsin and United States departments of agriculture at Madison. The crop of 1930 was an increase of sixteen per cent over the $56,000 tons produced in 1929. Although yield per acre was 2.5 tons last year as compared to 2.9 the year before, acreage of alfalfa had increased from 295,000 to 338,000 which brought about the million ton crop of 1930. Both last year's acreage and production were new records for the state.

The acreage of Wisconsin alfalfa hay was 72,000 in 1917 while in 1918 the area was cut in half. After that year alfalfa acreage increased steadily up to 1928 except for a decrease in 1922. Decreases as compared to acreage of the year before were registered in the years from 1927 to 1929. This downward turn has been followed, however, by the exceptional acreage of 1930. Yield per acre has not been below 2.3 tons since records have been available and this low yield occurred only in 1923. The average annual yield per acre has been over 2.6 tons for the last 14 years. Alfalfa hay amounted to about 16 per cent of our entire hay production in 1930. With its advantages as a feed crop and the place it fills in crop rotation it fits in excellently with our dairy program.

While Wisconsin is not one of the largest alfalfa producing states of the nation, there were only eleven states which grew more alfalfa hay in 1930. Alfalfa acreage of the United States was 11,565,000 last year as compared to 11,461,000 the year before, while production in 1930 came to 28,537,000 tons as compared to 29,745,000 in 1929, according to the crop estimates division of the department of agriculture.

PREXY'S DON'T LAST Washington—College presidents aren't likely to remain in service

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. The doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver. Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. adv.

World Famous COMMANDER with free wheeling

EVEN without Free Wheeling, Studebaker's world famous Commander Eight would still be the biggest value for the money in America.

The Commander is a car of generous wheelbase—124 inches—a comfort further enhanced by Studebaker's famous ball bearing spring suspension.

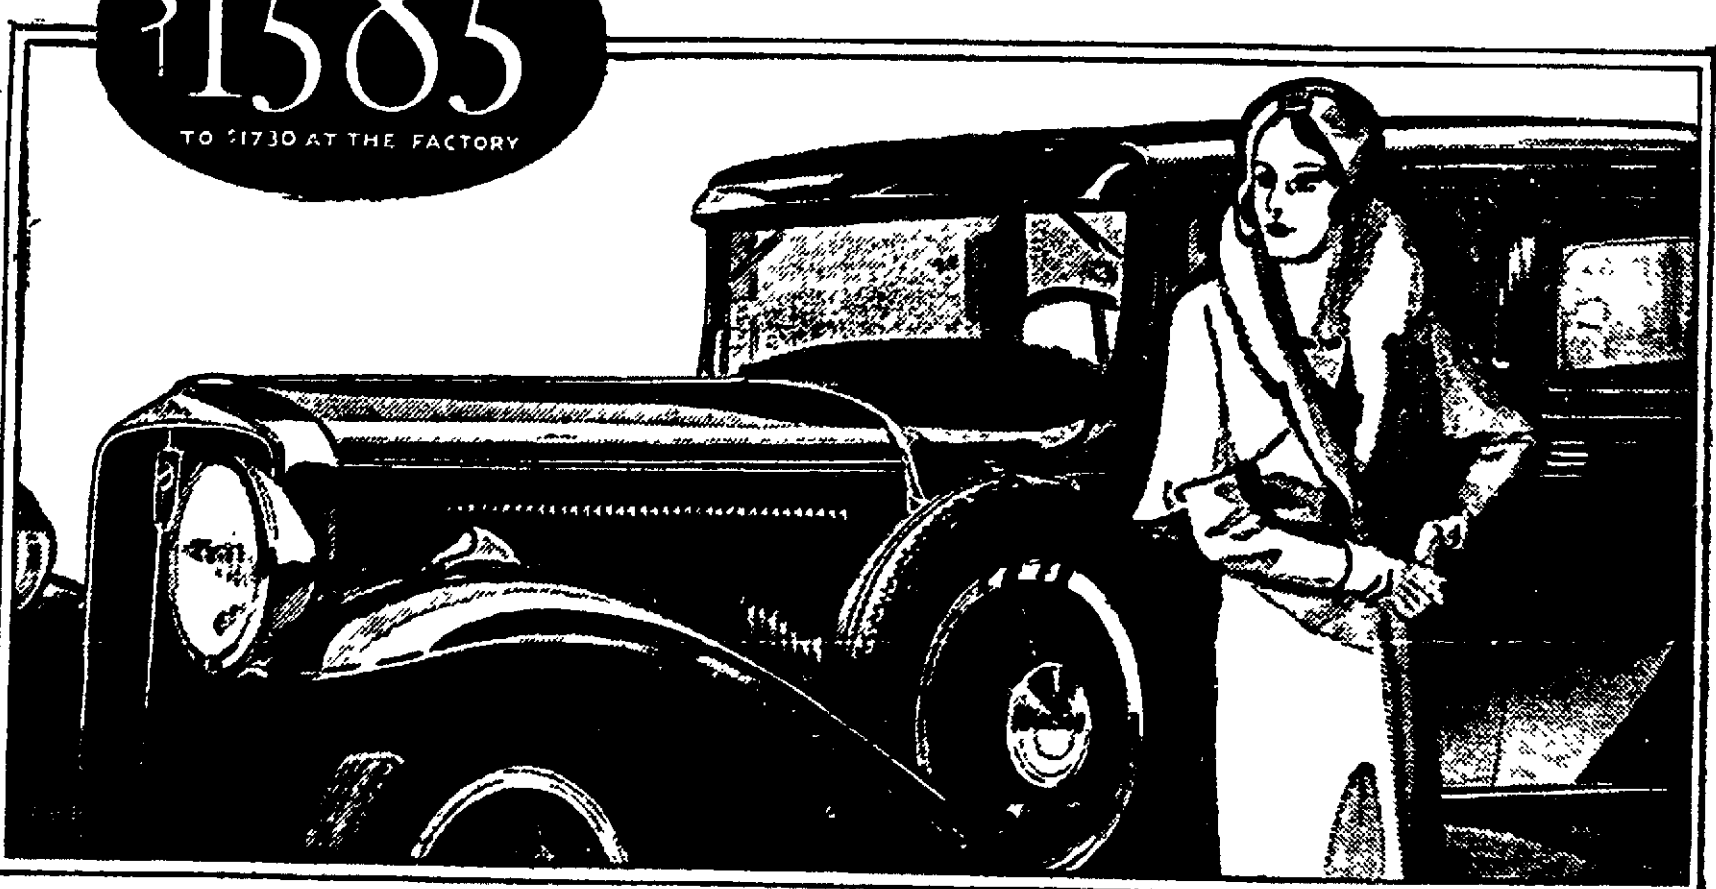

The Commander engine develops 101 certified horsepower—the greatest power per cubic inch, with two exceptions, to be found in any American motor car. The two exceptions are the engines of cars costing, roughly, $1000 and $3000 more than The Commander!

Commander performance and comfort thus form an ideal natural background for the joy, the economy and the safety of Free Wheeling.

Free Wheeling with positive gear control, as introduced by Studebaker and adopted, unchanged, by Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, gives you silent gear shifting at all speeds—freedom from clutch-pushing—12 to 20 per cent proved gasoline and oil saving—incomparably restful, zestful motoring—and the added safety attested by public traffic officials from coast to coast.

One drive will convince you there is no value comparable to this seasoned Eight by Studebaker, Pioneer and Pacemaker. May we place a Commander Eight at your disposal?

The Commander Eight Four-door Sedan is $1585 at the factory. Other Commander Eight models range in price from $1585 to $1730 at the factory. Bumpers and spare tires extra.

New Wichmann Funeral Home Built In Old English Style

STRUCTURE IS RESULT OF LONG STUDY OF PLANS

Luxurious Homelike Atmosphere Characterizes Stately Building

The results of long study in architecture and interior decorating are apparent in the Wichmann Funeral home at the intersection of N. Superior and W. Franklin-sts. Careful thought and consideration has been given every detail in the construction, from the stone and brick work on the exterior to the decorating and furnishing of the interior.

The new funeral home has been fashioned after similar structures in the eastern part of the country, and is so arranged as to create a home like atmosphere.

The building has been constructed after the old English style of architecture. The exterior is of brick and stone, with a fire proof asbestos roof. The window casements and doors are of rustic oak, which adds to the homelike appearance of the structure. The brick chimney wall for the fireplace on the west side of the building also adds beauty to the external appearance.

Large Vestibule
Upon entering the building from W. Franklin-st., one steps into a spacious, circular vestibule which leads into the reception room, the large service room, family room, and consultation quarters, with a wide staircase leading to the second floor. The service room, family room, and others on the main floor are furnished with old English furniture.

The interior wall decorations are all in white-amber, with bracket wall lamps to match. On the west side of the service room is a large, low fireplace constructed of white Bedford stone, and equipped with pounced Swedish iron fixtures.

In front of the fireplace are two moss green divans, in back of which are two octagonal oak tables. Other large old English chairs, divans and lamps complete the picture. East India tat cloth and mohair casement cloth curtains cover the windows and hang from the large portiers.

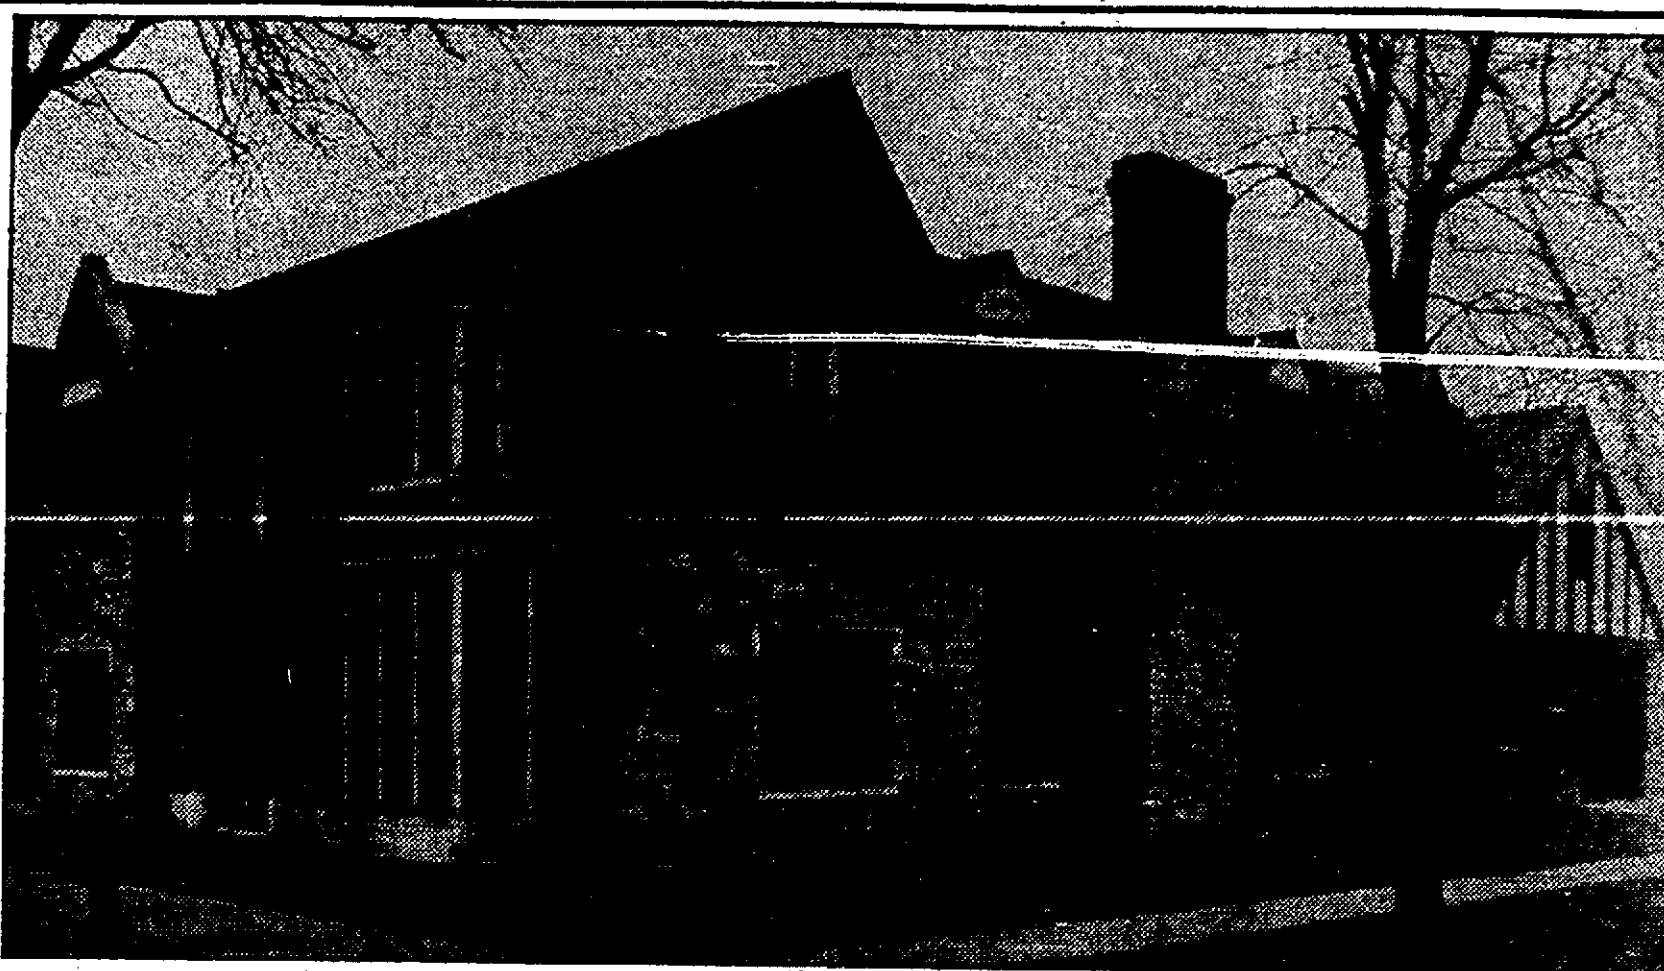

At the southern end of the service room is a spacious casket alcove. On either side of the alcove are two amber portier lamps and in the rear hangs massive tapestry. The organ grill, on the right side of the alcove, is constructed of oak to harmonize with the rest of the woodwork. The service room is covered with heavy Chalfont rugs, and on the walls hang large oil paintings.

Pipe Organ
The Estey pipe organ, designed by Mr. Carl Seeger of the Meyer Seeger Music Co., is equipped with 289 pipes and 21 stops. The organ has been installed on the southwest corner of the building and is operated from a huge motor and blower constructed in the basement.

The family room, east of the service quarters, is furnished similar to the service room. The room has been designed and arranged for immediate relatives of the deceased.

The main floor has been arranged so that three bodies can be viewed at one time. The various rooms are separated with large oak doors.

Builders Complete New Funeral Home

The formal opening of the new Wichmann Funeral home at the intersection of N. Superior and W. Franklin-sts will take place over the weekend. The structure is constructed of Lannon stone and buff colored brick and has a fire proof asbestos roof. At the extreme left is the main entrance on Franklin-st, and at the extreme right is the Superior-st entrance to the garage. The side entrance to the funeral home is on the east side of the building.

Bodies can be viewed in the service, family and reception rooms.

The preparatory room, a bedroom, smoking room, casket room, and lavatories are on the second floor. The casket display room occupies the center of the floor, with the bedroom and smoking quarters on the north. The display room is divided into sections, one part being used for adult caskets and the smaller section for children's caskets.

Fitted Bedroom
The bedroom, which has been arranged for the convenience of the immediate family of the deceased, also is equipped with old English styled furniture. The smoking room is equipped with large leather chairs and davenports and numerous hammered from smoking stands.

The lavatories are of modernistic design, the floors being of rose colored tile and the walls decorated to harmonize with the entire setting. The furnishings also blend with the color scheme of the walls and floor.

In the rear of the building is the garage and elevator. The garage is so arranged that all loading and unloading is done indoors. The garage can be entered from either the east or the west. A large concrete driveway, capable of parking 20 cars is constructed in the rear and on the east side of the building.

In the basement is a large vapor heating plant and ventilating apparatus. The motors for the elevator and organ also are housed in the basement.

The center of the basement floor is to be used for displaying vaults and other burial equipment.

SAWDUST LUMBER
Washington — Sawdust is made from lumber and now William A. Mason, former associate of Thomas A. Edison, has perfected a method by which sawdust can be made into lumber. It consists of shooting sawdust and wood chips from can-non-like cylinders. After a terrific explosion, the mass in the cylinders are in the form of long fibers. These are refined, waterproofed and compressed into a synthetic lumber.

Building Now For The Future

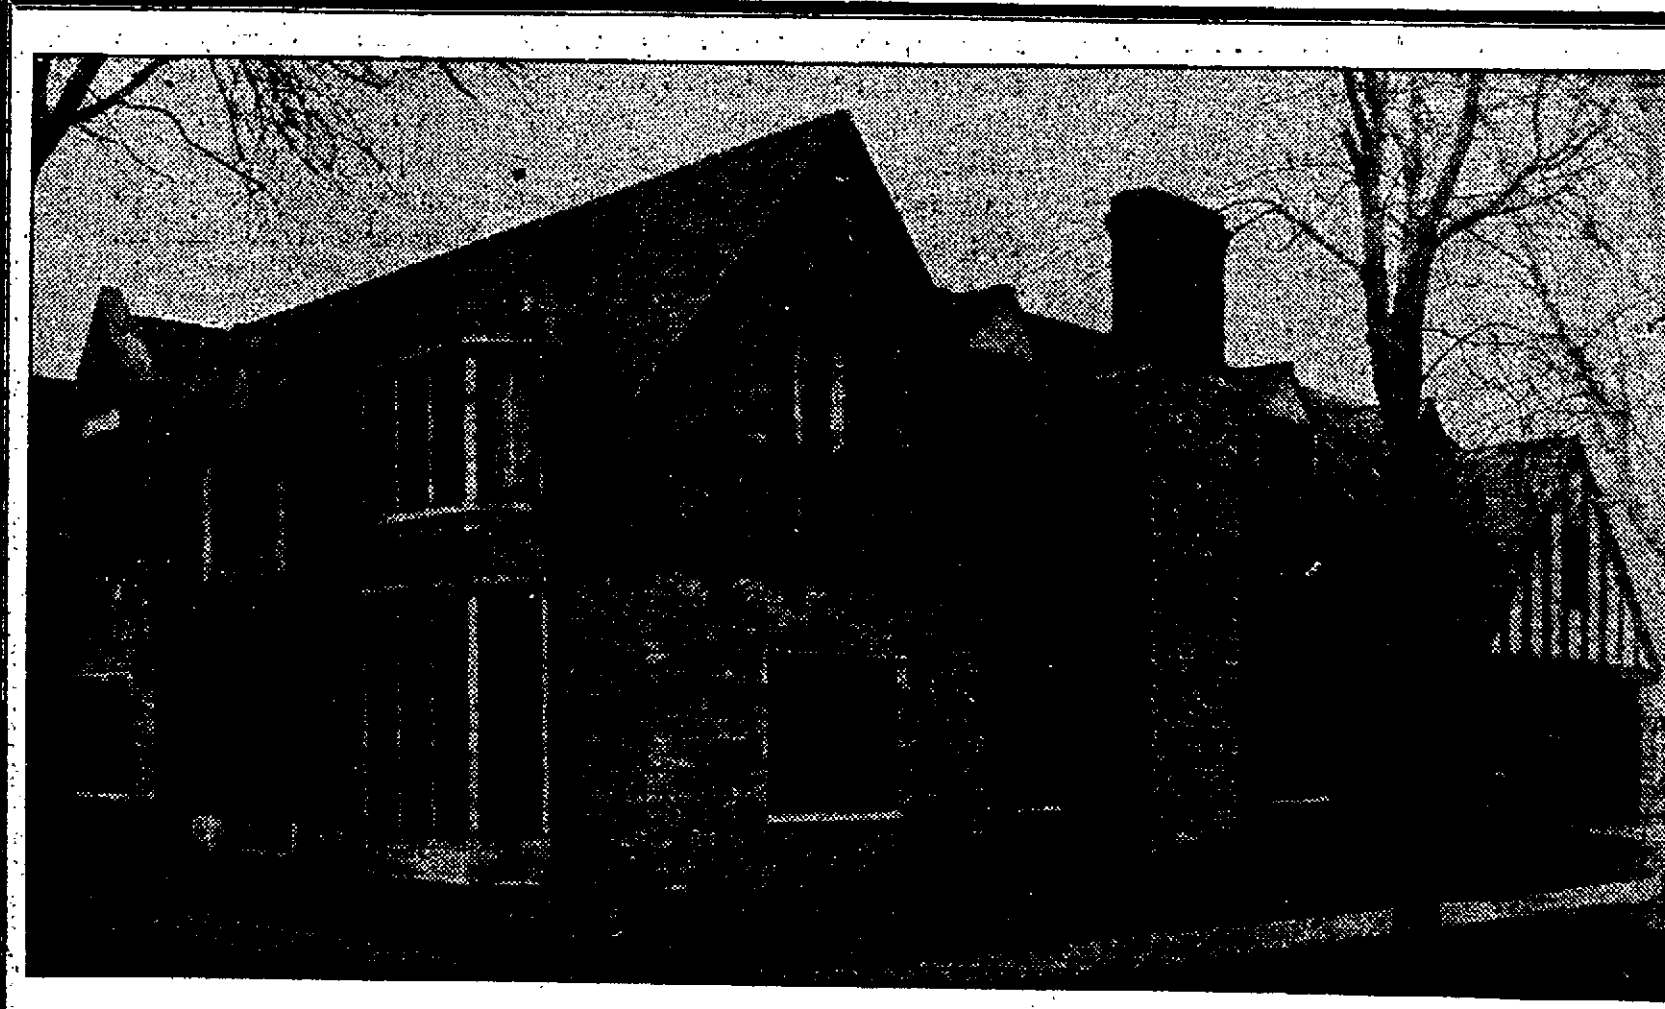

So much depends upon the integrity and conscientiousness of the contractor when a new building is under construction. The structure may be built with an eye to the present alone, or it may be built with vision for the future.

In building the Wichmann Funeral Home, we felt ourselves duty-bound to produce one of the finest pieces of work in our long history of construction work.

Ten — twenty — thirty years from now, the strength and beauty which we have built into the Wichmann Funeral Home will remain lasting tribute to our policy of Building Now for the Future.

Wichmann Company Began Business 33 Years Ago

The Wichmann Furniture Co., one of the pioneer business establishments on W. College-ave., was founded in Appleton in 1898 by the late Louis C. Wichmann and the late Joseph Grassburger, and was known at that time as the Grassburger-Wichmann Furniture store.

The old establishment, which was located in the building now occupied by the G. Q. Electric Co. at 531 W. College-ave., was operated jointly by the two men until 1906, when Mr. Grassburger's partnership was taken over by Joseph Kroner.

Mr. Kroner and Mr. Wichmann continued to operate the store, the name of which had been changed to Wichmann and Kroner Co., until 1915 when the former became sole proprietor.

In 1922 the new Wichmann Furniture Co. store at 513 W. College-ave. was erected with the funeral parlors on the third floor. In 1923 Mr. Wichmann died, leaving Miss Lauretta Wichmann, his daughter, as manager. About a year later Frank Hohn, who had been with the firm for many years, was named associate manager. He continued in this capacity until 1928, when Earl Wichmann, son of the founder, became manager. George E. Johnson, son-in-law of the late Mr. Wichmann, became secretary and treasurer in 1927.

In 1929, Mr. Wichmann and Mr. Johnson acquired the Conn Funeral home at 223 N. Oneida-st. which they have been operating until the present time. The funeral home was leased to the Wichmann Furniture Co. and served as a subsidiary to the firm.

Two years ago the two men also took over the business of W. F. Saecker, one of the proprietors of the Saecker-Diederich Furniture store, which was located in the building where the new Leath Furniture store now stands on E. College-ave.

Present officers of the furniture company are: Mrs. Augusta Wichmann, president; Joseph Loessl, vice president; Earl Wichmann, manager; George E. Johnson, secretary and treasurer; L. J. Smith, assistant manager; and Otto Tank, manager of the rugs and drapery department.

Paul Neverman, District Governor, Addresses Branch Organization

Special to Post-Crescent.
Chilton—The weekly meeting of the Chilton Kiwanis was held at Hotel Chilton Tuesday evening. The feature of the program was an address by District Governor Paul F. Neverman of Marinette.

If we are to accomplish what Kiwanis teaches, the speaker declared, we will have a record of doing things very much worth while. We can measure our achievements by taking stock of what we have done for the under privileged child, what we have done in that great but neglected field of vocational guidance for young people of high school age, he stated.

Traveling over the state Mr. Neverman said he finds members of Kiwanis clubs who say they cannot get anything out of their Kiwanis associations. In all these cases, Mr. Neverman, said the trouble lies in these members who are really contributing nothing to the objectives of the organization.

Plans for Structure Drawn by Firm of Smith and Brandt

The new Wichmann Funeral home at the intersection of W. Franklin and N. Superior-sts was constructed by Fred Hoeppner and Sons, contractors and builders. Work on the structure was started last fall.

Plans and specifications for the building were prepared and arranged by G. L. Smith of Smith and Brandt, architects. Excavating was done by Frank Barts and Co.

All of the mason work, including the laying of brick and stone on the exterior and the plastering and construction of the fireplace in the large service room, was done by Pat Miron and Co.

Lanon stone from the Lanon quarries near Menominee Falls, and buff colored face brick was used in the general construction of the building. The fireplace in the service room was constructed of white Bedford stone from Bedford, Ind.

Lumber and mill work was furnished by the Standard Manufacturing Co. The woodwork on the entire first floor is done in oak to harmonize with other fixtures and furnishings.

The fire proof asbestos roof was laid by the Appleton Roofing and Hardware Co. The roof is trimmed with buff colored tile.

Local Man Decorated
Interior decorating and painting was done by George Jackson, Appleton decorator and painter. Mr. Jackson finished his work on the interior early this week.

The organ was manufactured by the Estey Organ Co., Battlesboro, Va., and was furnished through the firm's office in Chicago and the Meyer, Seeger Music Co. of this city. The organ is equipped with 239 pipes and 21 stops. The motor and blower is constructed in the basement of the home.

The building is heated with a large boiler manufactured by the American Radiator Co., and installed by the August Winters Co. The Unit-Vent ventilating system, which is capable of changing the air in the building every six minutes, also was installed by Mr. Winters.

The plumbing and fixtures were installed by the W. S. Patterson Co., while the electric wiring and installation of fixtures was done by the Blake Electric Co. The lamps installed by the electric company are all designed to harmonize with other fixtures. Most of them are constructed of hammered Swedish iron, including the wall brackets in the service room and the chandeliers.

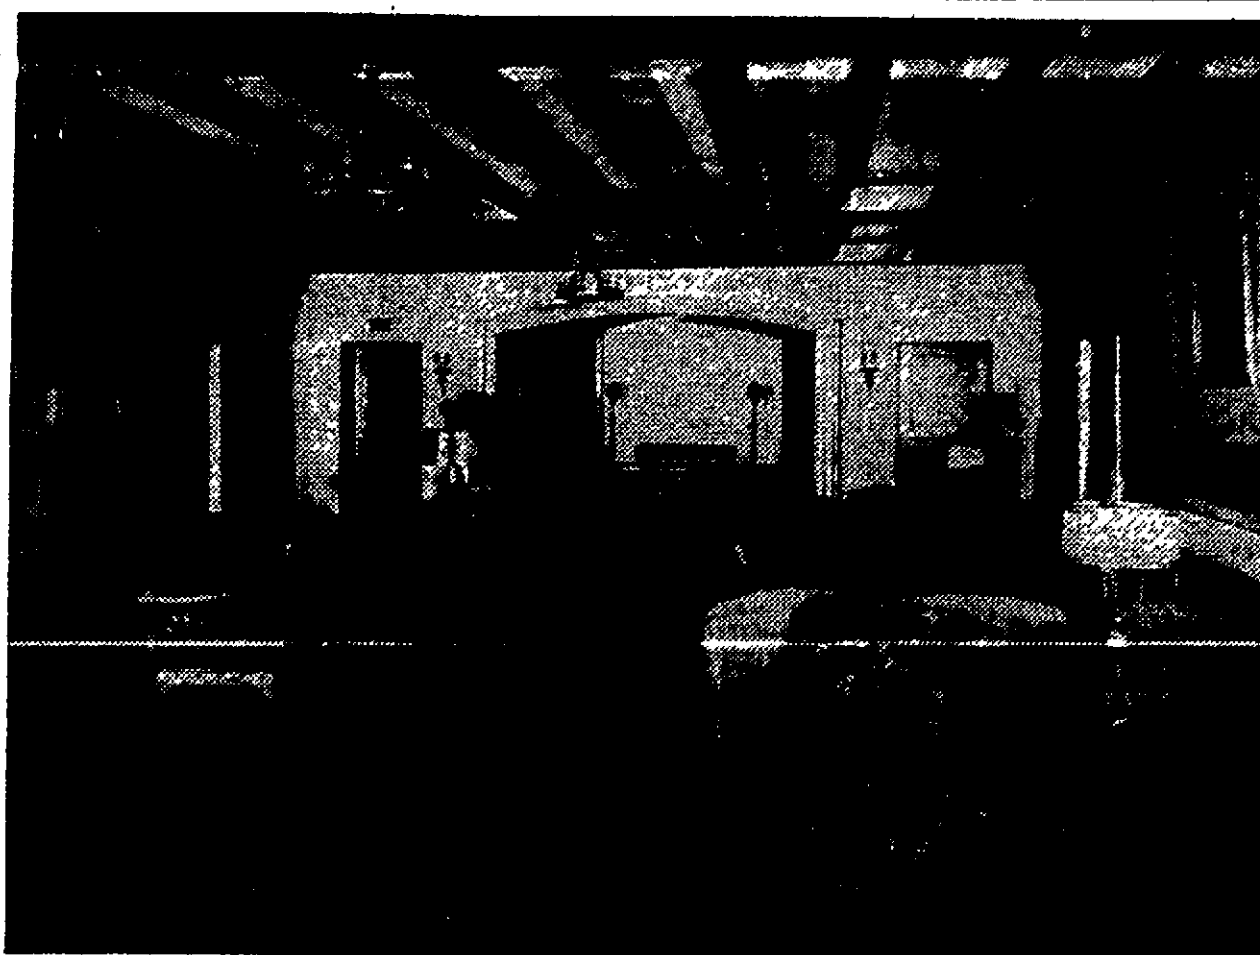

Hardware, including the fireplace fixtures was furnished by the Galpin Hardware Co., and the iron work and metal sign in front of the building was constructed by the Krooks Bros. Co.

The elevator was constructed and installed by the Otis Elevator Co. The elevator has a capacity of 350 pounds and operates from the basement to the second floor.

The Ceco Weather Stripping Co. furnished the weather strips, and E. M. Blazer, local representative, made the installations. The Iverson Tile Co. of Green Bay furnished and laid the tile in the circular corridor and lavatories.

Service Room at Funeral Home

The large service room in the new Wichmann Funeral home resembles a room one might expect to find in an English mansion. The room is luxuriously furnished with old English furniture, and at the extreme right is a large fireplace constructed of white Bedford stone. In the background the casket alcove can be seen with its portier lamps. To the right of the alcove is the organ grill in which is housed the large Estey organ with its 239 pipes and 21 stops. The family quarters are at the left of the service room.

FOREST FIRES ARE REPORTED IN NORTH

Milwaukee —(AP)— Despite snowfalls, forest fires already have made their appearance in the northern lake states this season and lookouts today were at several posts to guard against spread of fires.

"Fire conditions in the area are becoming worse daily," Regional Forester E. W. Tinker, Milwaukee, of the U. S. Forest Service said. The fires, he said, have been prevalent around the Chippewa forest at Cass Lake, Minn., and guard mounted lookout towers at Cass Lake and Bena March 2. The first two fires of the 1931 season were meadow fires and a third occurred at the Burns lake bridge over the Mississippi.

J. M. Walley, supervisor of the Chippewa forest, said fires burned continually around the forest boundary and that most of the country was devoid of snow. Conditions are not yet critical in Wisconsin, Tinker said, but with disappearance of the snow extreme caution should be exercised to prevent fires.

St. Louis.—The battle between the horse and automobile was renewed here on one of the city's streets. The horse, a runaway, saw Mrs. Long's car coming. The horse swerved at the car and tried to hurtle it. It was unsuccessful, and its feet crashed into the windows of the car. Mrs. Long, sitting in the back of the car, was injured by flying glass.

APPEAL TO ALUMNI TO SUPPORT MOVE

No More Aid Available for Reading Service at Lawrence College

The alumni of Lawrence college are being appealed to for contributions for the Alumni Reading service. The service, established a year ago on funds supplied by the Carnegie Foundation, should be self-supporting after the first year foundation officials said, and consequently it will receive no more aid.

A large number of new books have been added to the collection for the special use of alumni. Among the most interesting are "Ordeal of this Generation" by Gilbert Murray, a new discussion of the League of Nations and world peace, and "Unrest" by Abraham Flexner. "Portrait of a Diplomat" by Harold Nicolson has also been added and is proving extremely popular. It is the story of the life of a gentleman and a picture of the coming of the World War. Among some of the popular new novels added to the collection is "Deepening Stream" by Dorothy Canfield, famous woman novelist. Alumni of Lawrence college may obtain these books through the Alumni Reading Service secretary at the college office.

SCHUBERT TO SPEAK AT SAFETY MEETING

William Schubert of the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. will lead one of the sectional meetings of the annual Fox River Valley and Lake Shore Safety conference at Fond du Lac, on May 20, according to the committee in charge. Meetings are to be held at the Retlaw hotel. Representatives are expected to attend from Appleton, Oshkosh, Neenah, Sheboygan, Manitowish, and Green Bay.

The Electrical Work

THE NEW WICHMANN Funeral Home

was designed to create a new idea in funeral establishments. This could not be complete without the proper electrical installations and lighting fixtures.

Due to the Artistic design of this beautiful new building the lighting fixtures had to be especially designed and built to gain the texture required. The Bleick Electric Shop understanding these problems was well able to handle this part of the work.

Note these fixtures when you visit the new Wichmann Funeral Home. Your conception of modern, graceful and dignified lighting will be greatly enlarged.

OPEN NEW FUNERAL HOME OVER WEEKEND

Public Invited to Inspect
Wichmann Building Saturday and Sunday

Formal opening of the new Wichmann Funeral parlors at the intersection of W. Franklin and N. Superstition, which was constructed as a memorial to the late Louis C. Wichmann, founder of the Wichmann Furniture Co., will be held Saturday and Sunday. The home will be open for public inspection from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock in the evening on Saturday and Sunday.

A continuous organ program will be given during the two days on the Estey organ by Russell Wichmann, La. Vahn Maesch, and F. Proctor, all of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Funeral directors and representatives of firms, manufacturing undertaking equipment in cities throughout the middlewest are expected to be present. Invitations to state directors were sent this week by officials of the Wichmann firm.

Following is the inscription on a bronze tablet which hangs in the circular corridor of the funeral home:

"This funeral home is a memorial to our beloved father, Louis C. Wichmann, the founder of this institution whose ideals of personal service and untiring efforts made possible the erection of this building for the furtherance of his work."

Your Birthday

"FISCES"
If March 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:45 p. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4:45 p. m. The danger hours are from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m., from 5:15 p. m. to 6:10 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:15 p. m.

March 20th holds out, according to astrological indications, great hope, especially insofar as human relationships are concerned. Old sores will be healed and a new plane of understanding established. Keeping to the beaten track in business is counseled.

Notwithstanding the fidgetiness of the child born on this March 20th, it will be methodical in its habits and possess, in no small degree, the acquisitive faculty. In mature years, it will "eat up" responsibilities, never seek help from outsiders, and will be devoted to its family.

If you were born on March 20th, you are generous and sparing of the feelings of others, always ready to concede what others—in reason demand. Your convictions are strong, but you are prepared at all times to admit that those who oppose your views may be just as sincere as you are. In an argument, you are forcible, but never dogmatic.

You are friendly and well-liked, always choose your words carefully, and endeavor to avoid giving offense, and try to please. You have, however, plenty of backbone, and your actions show that outside opinions have, in no way, influenced yours. You have exceptional intuitive faculties, and acting on your "hunches" is always your trump card.

It would be a mistake for you to be associated with partners in business. In order to attain success, you must go it on your own. You neither have the patience nor the time to explain to others what you intend to do, and why you are going to do it. The signs denote that you will, once you get into your stride, travel extensively, and in your case, this will prove of great educational advantage. You will not find much pleasure in a home, but will never be happy without a companionable mate.

Watson Finds Out What Sherlocks See In Murder

BY MORRIS WATSON

New York—(AP)—The body of Vivian Gordon was found in Van Cortlandt park on the morning of Feb. 28.

These are the clues: She was strangled with a rope—her coat was missing—she kept a diary revealing fear of several persons—she was known to have offered information in the magazines' court vice inquiry—

Here are "solutions" offered by weavers of murder mystery thrillers:

"Harry Stephen Keeler, author of 'Sing Sing Nights'—She was murdered by a jealous gangster lover who knew about her prospective vice revelations, and who took as many pains to depart from grand tradition in method of dispatching her as he did to thrust the explanations baldly on vice racketeers. He committed it in his own car in some lonely section, but left the body in a public park where it would be quickly found. He used a cord or rope instead of a gun which would have left ballistic evidence and also evidence of gangsterism. She wore her expensive ring and coat for no other reason than that she knew with whom she was going riding, and the murderer's fatal mistake will ultimately be found to be that he took them both to cover this very fact up."

Audrey Boyd, author of "No Man's Woman"—The hand that strangled Vivian Gordon obeyed the prompting of other minds. Robbery seems to have been incidental and a cover for the real motive.

Lower vice squad circles had a motive, and may have felt the death of the witness to be the lesser of two dangers. As a procuress, she had vengeful rivals in the underworld. There may have been collusion between them, either definite or tacit, combining the motives of fear and revenge.

Martin Freeman, author of "The Murder of a Midget"—In my opinion

Miss Gordon was murdered not because of what she had told or might tell before the vice inquiry, but because of what she might tell before a federal grand jury. She likely knew at least one of the murderers, and had no reason to distrust either of them entirely. The crime was committed by amateurs at homicide, at least one of whom has marked paranoiac tendencies. Both are likely drug users. Investigation by the federal narcotic squad likely would produce important clues.

Bruce Harrison, author of "A. 100"—The puzzle of Vivian Gordon's murder seems likely to be one of those where the obvious solution is the right one—that is, she received the customary underworld penalty for "squealing." How much dangerous knowledge she had is uncertain. But certainly she knew too much for the comfort of any number of potential murderers.

Burton E. Stevenson, author of "Mystery of the Boule Cabinet"—The commonplace explanation is usually the right one. Everything seems to indicate that Vivian Gordon was murdered by someone whom her promised disclosures threatened to incriminate, or the agent of such a person. The price of used clothesline is a remarkable clue, and the revelations in her diary remarkably significant.

Charles J. Dutton, author of "Murder in a Library"—Fear plays all over this case. Vivian Gordon was afraid of death and the diaries covering the past three years are filled with the outpourings of fear of an over-emotional woman. A clue is hidden in the diary. It is simply the usual gang crime, where a traitor is put out of the way, then they are using a new weapon in a clothesline. It's not the weapon of the criminal class. Fear! Find out who was afraid, discover why they were afraid.

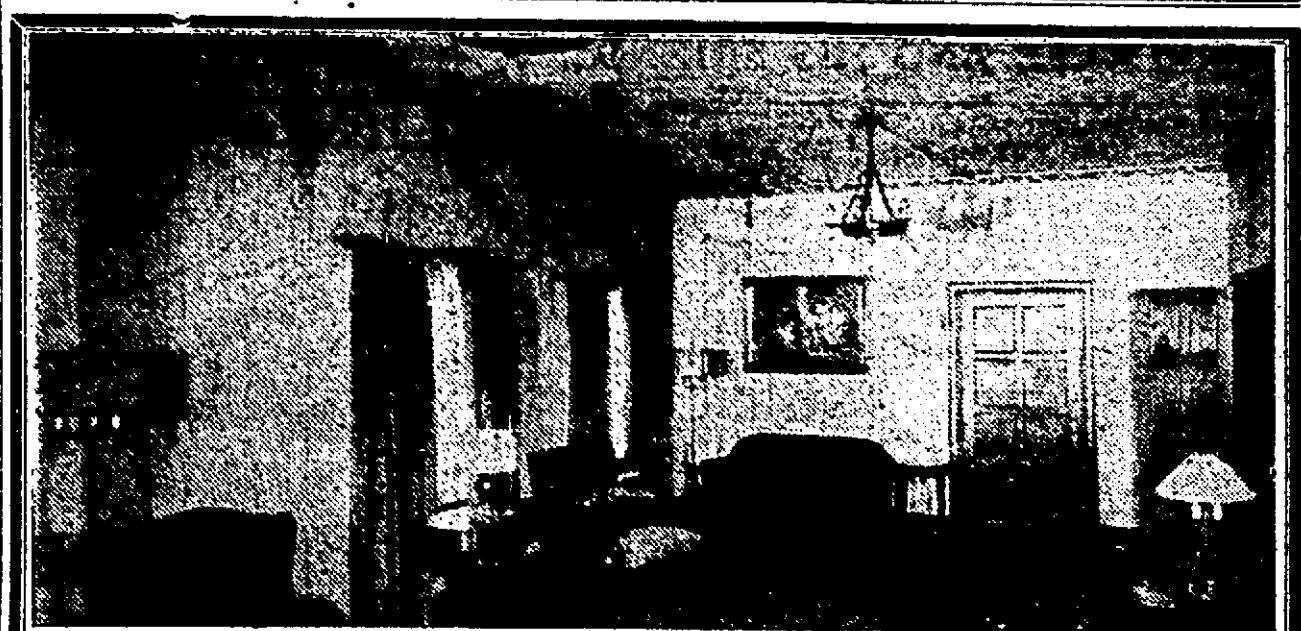

Henry C. Beck, author of "Murder in the News Room"—Miss Gordon was slain by her associates, her friends, not her enemies. They killed her because they thought she was going to expose the racket in which she was engaged. The American gangster shoots; he doesn't use a knife or a rope. Miss Gordon's Cuban maid, apparently the only one who could identify those who accompanied the murdered woman on her death ride, was nearly blinded by acid. The use of a rope to strangle a victim resembles the official manner of execution in Cuba and is a common murder method in Cuba and the Latin American countries. Perhaps it is there that the key clue would be found.

DEFER PRESENTATION OF SCHOOL OPERETTA

"The Windmills of Holland," an operetta in two acts scheduled to be given at Wilson Junior high school in conjunction with the presentation of "Hawatha's Wedding Feast" Friday evening, will be postponed until Tuesday evening, March 24. Directors of the two performances decided the double program would be too lengthy so the operetta is to be held over until next week.

"Hawatha's Wedding Feast" is to be sung by 250 pupils of Wilson school under the direction of Dr. Earl Baker, assisted by Miss Irene Bidwell.

"Windmills of Holland" is to be presented by McKinley school students.

Chapter 15
SCANDAL IN THE HOME
DR. CHARTERS and Mr. James came as near to a breach as was possible between two men whose lives were so bound together. They sat in solemn conclave until Dr. Charters introduced the subject of John Wayne, and very quickly the Doctor's patience was outworn by Mr. James' dull reiteration of his one specific, "bump him off," and the simple mind of Mr. James was irritated by Dr. Charters' oft-repeated and vain speculation, "Who is this man Wayne? . . . He's got me guessing, all day and all night."
"Well, get him guessing," growled Mr. James.
"Guessing what?"
"How to nibble his way out from a hole in the ground, six feet deep. Bump him off, I say."
"I wish you could say something sensible. I've told you how he's got us fixed, and Matheson's coming again. . . . I'll get him in the end."
"If he doesn't get us first. Bump him off, I say."
"Would you mind not saying that again, but set your wits to work about him and Spider Schlitz, and don't say anything about him. I can't say anything myself: my hands are full, and all you can do is to sit there, and say 'Bump him off,' when I tell you that his life's absolutely precious to us, just at present. Watch him, I say."
"Yes, you say a lot, Boss. Now suppose you give yourself a rest and listen to me. Then perhaps you'll do some thinking, too. Last night I was making my second round, and, half turning a corner, what should I see but some one coming along it towards me. Coming soft, too. In black socks and a dark evening gown. I faded flat into the wall, with half an eye round the corner, intending to follow him up."
"Good boy, Jimmy. And where was our mysterious Mr. Wayne off to? . . . You followed him, of course?"
"You wait, and do some of that thinking you talk about," replied Mr. James sourly.
"Well," he continued, "didn't I follow the guy at all. Before he reaches the end of the corridor he squints, squints at the number over a door, and flashes on a torch. I got half a glimpse of his face, and who do you think it was?"
"Wayne?"
"No, it wasn't. It was that old rumhound, Colonel Campbell. And when that room do you think he'd gone into?"
The Doctor stared in amazement.
"Not Wayne's?"
"You've got Wayne on the brain. No, it wasn't Wayne's. It was the painted and sanctified room of that dandy-bolled Miss Skinner! That's what."
"Well, I'm damned!" said the Doctor. . . . "Anyhow, we'll soon put an end to that sort of thing."
"We've never had a scandal in the Monastery yet and we won't start now," he added virtuously. Colonel Campbell and Miss Skinner are clear out of here tomorrow, ill as well, cured or not cured."
"And the Wayne guy?" sneered Dr. James.
"What's he got to do with this?" inquired the Doctor.
"Well, perhaps you can say," was the reply. "For I just sat me down comfortable in a recess in that corridor, waiting for that boozey old guy come out again and get the shock of his life, when, lo, it wasn't so. was me who got the shock."
"For, ten minutes later, along comes another one, treadin' soft. See?" thinks I. 'Am I in the Monastery?' And believe me, Boss, this Colonel wanderer stopped at the door, took . . .
"You could have knocked me down and up again with the tip end of this one doesn't die straight in the other done: he just taps the handle gently, then opens the door and slides in. There's a light in the room now, so I got a glimpse of his one's face, too. I got . . .
"Who was it?" snapped the Doctor, his face expressing anger.
"Who was it?" growled Mr. James. "It was only your Mr. Mysterious Don't-Bump-Him-Off guy."
Speechless, the Doctor stared his amazement and incredulity.

RED CROSS OVER TOP IN DROUGHT RELIEF DRIVE

Takes Two Months, Five Days to Carry Out Program of Two Weeks

Washington—(P)—In two months and five days the Red Cross has raised $10,000,000 for drought relief. It had hoped to obtain this sum in two weeks.

John Barton Payne, chairman, announced yesterday $10,005,328 had been contributed, demonstrating again "that the American people want the Red Cross to act for them in meeting emergencies and distress growing out of disasters in our nation."

Thus he replied to critics who had charged the Red Cross would not be able to give satisfactory relief to drought sufferers. He said the work would continue, and that on March 1, chapters in 20 states were giving food, clothing or other types of relief to 2,000,000 persons.

When the last congress was embroiled over drought relief money, Payne refused to accept government appropriation. He told a house committee the Red Cross ever had been able to raise necessary funds, adding his organization was embarrassed by a senate appropriation proposal.

Stand Brought Debate
Critical debate followed supporters of Payne's stand contending a government appropriation would "strike a blow at the heart of the American Red Cross and the American practice of donating freely to the needy." The proposal failed of enactment, government relief taking the form of loans to be administered by governmental agencies.

Throughout the controversy in congress over money for food, the administration supporters contended such legislation would be socialist and that loans should be limited to "rehabilitation."

The legislation as finally passed in this form.

"While the congressional struggle continued, the Red Cross drive was begun, on Jan. 12. President Hoover, former Governor Smith of New York, urged contributions be made. Will Rogers made a benefit tour to raise funds.

In his statement yesterday, Payne said it was "a matter of deep gratitude to me," that the "response of our citizens, always, has been generous."

"It must be a source of satisfaction to the thousand who contributed to the Red Cross Drought relief

DONATE BOILER FOR PAPER MAKING COURSE

The Lawrence college Institute of Paper Chemistry has announced the donation of a cylindrical rotary boiler by the Biggers Boiler Works of Akron, Ohio. The boiler, which is three feet long and has a capacity of 100 gallons, is used to cook rags in the manufacture of rag pulp. The boiler, complete with gears and other necessary equipment, is worth approximately $600. It will be installed in the Paper Chemistry rooms in the new Alexander gymnasium.

The Institute also has received a complete set of pulp and paper testing equipment from the Stein-Hall Co. of New York city which will be installed immediately in the Institute rooms. All the equipment was manufactured at the Valley Iron Works of Appleton.

fund to know they have helped their fellow citizens over this calamitous winter season," he added. "Never before has our society faced so great a task of relief."

Tomorrow?

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ill-effects overnight! A candy Cascaret at bedtime—tomorrow morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get every particle of the souring waste out of your system. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the handy boxes. Try Cascarets tonight.

Coeds' Standings Average Higher Than Those Of Men

Lawrence college coeds study harder than the men, or at least they maintain higher averages, according to Olin A. Meade, registrar at the college. According to the figures for the first semester of the 1930-31 year the girls maintained an average of 83.16 for all subjects while the men just managed an 80 average. Fraternity and sorority members produced slightly higher averages than the non-Greeks, the girls' average again being almost three points more than that of the men.

The senior class as a group led the other three with an 86.2 average for all subjects carried by seniors and the other classes followed in regular order. The juniors maintained an 84.12 average for the semester and the sophomores and 81.31 average while the freshman trailed the list with 79.67 for the half year's work. According to Mr. Meade the upper classes have a generally higher average because the slower students have been weeded out and the remaining ones are allowed to specialize in desired subjects.

BULL ELEMENT OPENS FIRE ON STOCK MARKET

Trading Heavy During Opening Session but Slackens Later in Day

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—Bulls opened their heavy artillery in today's stock market for the first time this month. After a vigorous drive against the bears in the first hour, however, the offensive was halted, and bulls were content to defend their new position. Trading was in large volume in the first hour, but slackened as the day wore on. General Motors was brought forward as a leader, a role in which it has served infrequently since its violent rise of 1928. This prominent motor issue sold up 2 points into new high ground for 1931 around 47.

The market was still a professional affair, and in the main failed to show signs of breaking out of its recent trading range.

The more in General Motors was accompanied by brokerage house gossip to the effect that the corporation would not earn its dividend in the first quarter, but expected the momentum which has been developed in March to carry well into the second quarter, so that net for the entire first half should easily cover dividends for that period.

The veterans loans are frequently indicated as a stimulus to motor car buying and appear to be stimulating furniture sales. While Wall Street in the main regards this as mere inflation, some commentators are pointing to it as a bullish stock market factor, and testimony as fundamental business improvement is not lacking. James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation, in calling a meeting of the nation foreign trade council, again voices his opinion that the world depression is subsiding.

Commodity price trends were mixed. The sugar market was notably firmer, with refiners expecting to increase prices 1.0 of a cent to 4.5 cents tomorrow. On the other hand, bar silver reacted 1/2 of a cent.

The closeness of the commodity price situation appears again in a report of the livestock advisory committee of the farm board which states that prices of all meat animals are below production costs.

Credit conditions were about stationary, although commercial paper rates were shaded a little.

LIVESTOCK BUYERS ATTACK HOG PRICES

Would Reduce Scale of Values in Each Section of Trade

Chicago (AP)—Recent at being forced to pay higher prices for their supplies yesterday, local livestock buyers came out resolved to reduce the scale of values in each section of the trade. Slow buying was the result, as the commission men had out for stability in prices. Hogs were the first to sell in that market prices remained fully steady with the Wednesday average. Light hogs weighing 170 to 200 lbs. sold at $8.25-8.35, while 220 to 240 lb. kinds of high finish went at $7.90-8.00. Chicago's run of 23,000 was 4,000 smaller than last Thursday's but it brought the total for the first four days of the week to 114,000, against 99,000 for the same time last week.

Unsold lambs held over from the slow closing trade of the day before provided the only real menace to continued high prices in the market for fat lambs today. The run of 14,000 included 5,000 direct to packers and of the remaining 9,000 shippers were expected to take more than half. Since they bought practically no lambs yesterday, packers were expected to come out for supplies in order to continue operations. Selling was almost negligible in the opening rounds, however, as all buyers waited for word indicating a lower swing. Best light westerns were held at $9.65, even with the best time yesterday.

Failure of the dressed beef market to advance in accordance with the higher prices established in live cattle yesterday put a damper on the already gloomy outlook resulting from the sale of $9,000 head at Chicago. Light butcher stock and select heavy steers were in best demand; but dealers were oversupplied and bids were again weaker in the early trade in spite of recent sharp declines.

GRAIN PRICES SLUMP; REPORT SNOW IN WEST

Corn Moves in Sympathy With Wheat—Report Large Shipments

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago (AP)—Announcement that predictions of widespread beneficial moisture were beginning to be fulfilled by rain in Kansas and snow in Nebraska eased grain prices down late today. Rain and snow were also received in the Canadian northwest. Houses with export connections sold Chicago delivery of wheat and bought September.

Stability shown by wheat was in the face of Liverpool reports of increased supplies from Russia and of large shipments from Argentina. Winnipeg wired, however, that overnight there had been 500,000 bushels of Canadian wheat taken for Trans-Atlantic shipments, and there were signs that the primary movement in the United States was abating today's receipts at domestic primary terminals 933,000 bushels, compared with 1,811,000 a week ago.

Arrivals of corn, as well as wheat, lacked volume. Corn primary receipts totaled 327,000 bushels and were of little more than was the case of either last week or last year. Chicago had only 99 cars. Speculative sellers found that offerings were quickly absorbed.

Oats borrowed firmness from wheat and corn.

Provisions worked lower, responsive to weakness of hog values.

ACTIVE BUYING AIDS PRICE RISE ON CURB

Interest Spreads from Utilities to Manufacturing Shares

New York (AP)—Active buying in a number of specialty stocks gave a strong background to trading on the curb today.

Encouraged by favorable news from industry, speculators for the advance switched from the utilities to shares of manufacturing companies and marked up values rather rapidly in some instances. Oils were steady to firm.

Activity in Noranda Mines, which had been creeping up slowly, quickened sharply on the appearance of an official statement concerning drilling operations that have disclosed further good veins in one of the Canadian fields. The stock climbed several points in a large turnover.

Aluminum of America showed an unusually good volume and ran up briskly. Driver Harris, Dresser "B" and Zonite improved more moderately. Stutz Motor car, soft yesterday, recovered and Douglas Aircraft was able to make a new high for the year. Ford limited brought slightly higher prices.

Cities Service encountered a good demand and several large blocks changed hands, sending the shares to within about a point of their 1931 top. Standard of Indiana, although quiet, extended recent gains by a small margin. Other petroleum issues were dull.

Electric Bond and Share was sluggish after an early rise. A point. Other utilities were considerably less active than usual, and although the other leaders pointed upward the advance was narrow.

Call money renewed on the curb at 2 per cent.

PUBLISH JUNK RULES AGAIN, COUNCIL ASKS

Proposed Ordinance Modified as Aldermen Study It Once More

Doctored up for the nth time, the junk ordinance was ordered republished at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening. The ordinance has been published, paraded at public hearings and bounced back and forth in council meetings for several months. Now, the clause which automatically eliminates all junk dealers from the residential districts at the end of six months has been modified so that junk men in the residential districts must, at the end of six months, house all junk on their property or be denied a license. It is hoped that this will encourage junk dealers to find new locations within a short time.

The ordinance forcing contractors awarded contracts for city work to engage home labor at a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour for an 8-hour day brought on a merry battle seasoned with more or less caustic comment and was finally referred to the ordinance committee. It was argued that it was unhealthy to set a minimum wage scale that might or might not prevail years from now and that the council had no right to authorize an 8-hour day. Alderman Vogt maintained that such an ordinance would protect the man who has been out of work all winter from being hired at slave wages because his position necessitates his taking any kind of pay, that it would force contractors to pay time-and-a-half for overtime work and that the regulation would in no way increase the contract price of any public job.

The engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the paving of S. Lawrence from the bridge to South River-st. Alderman Mike Steinhilber felt that the bill is too steep for paving and Alderman Vogt maintained that the paving program for this summer is already too heavy.

Seek Parking Place
A request from merchants on College-ave, presented by Chris Mullen, Gerald Galpin and Herbert Goldberg, to move Soldier's monument to another location and turn Soldier's Square into a parking place, was referred to the street and bridge committee. The square, it is said, will provide parking places for about 100 cars, thus alleviating the congested parking conditions with which Appleton shoppers are forced to cope.

The Green Bay Mississippi Canal company will be instructed to construct a sidewalk on the south side of the canal on E. John-st, which may precipitate a court case to decide whether the city or the Canal company owns the bridge. The bridge, according to a state engineer, is already carrying too heavy a load, but the Canal company refuses to replace it until the ownership of the bridge is ascertained. Alderman Wassenberg pointed out the hazards of the bridge, now being used by hundreds of college students on their way to Alexander gymnasium.

Unpaid Personal property taxes will be kept in the treasurer's office, lots 1 and 2 of block 2, Newberry addition were placed in the local business district, garbage collectors must collect garbage twice a week from May to September and once a week during the winter months, at a maximum charge of 50 cents per customer, the milk ordinance will be changed so violators names will be published monthly, the bridge tender's salary was stricken from the salary ordinance and George Tennie, Greenville, Edward Krull, route 1, Appleton, Anton Werner, Mackville, and G. C. Defferding, route 1, Menasha, were granted garbage collectors licenses. A request from the town of Grand Chute to connect the sewer of school district 10 with the city sewerage system, thereby protecting the health of 53 schoolchildren, was referred to the street and bridge committee.
